Woman Killed, Mate Dying in Crash

MOTORS IN WRECK ON HIGHWAY

Wife of Long Beach Resident Dies When She Is Hurlled From Car

HEAD HITS PAVEMENT, SKULL IS FRACTURED

Daughter Sustains Concussion of Brain Is Physicians' Fear

Mrs. U. G. Tolle, 52, a resident of Long Beach, is dead; her husband, U. G. Tolle, may die, and their daughter, Mrs. Walter Thorpe, 27, is in a serious condition in an Anaheim hospital, as the result of a motor crash on the Artesia-Long Beach boulevard late yesterday. Mrs. Tolle, with her skull fractured and suffering from internal injuries, died at 10 a. m. today in the Anaheim hospital.

According to a report filed with Anaheim police by R. L. Butcher, also a resident of Long Beach, an automobile driven by Tolle was proceeding along the Artesia highway when it collided with the car piloted by Butcher. Police said Butcher's version of the accident was that the cars were traveling in opposite directions when a driver just ahead of Butcher stopped suddenly and without warning. Butcher, in an effort to avoid a collision with this car, turned out sharply, when his car sideswiped the Tolle car, overturning it.

Police reports show that Mrs. Tolle, seated beside her husband, was hurled from the car, striking the pavement with such force that she sustained a fracture of the skull and internal injuries. Her husband, hurled through the windshield, sustained a fractured skull and other injuries. He had a chance to recover. Butcher said Mrs. Thorpe, sustained possible concussion of the brain, but it is believed she will recover. Butcher was uninjured.

The Tolle, who had been to Anaheim for an outing, were returning to their home, 2241 Olive street, Long Beach, when the accident occurred. Butcher resides at 3010 Elliott street, Long Beach. Coroner Brown had not fixed a date for the inquest at a late hour today.

PROBES DEATH OF MAN AT SAN PEDRO

Coroner Charles D. Brown was today conducting a formal investigation, at the request of the Los Angeles county coroner, over the body of Peter F. Johnson, 65, of Lomita, near San Pedro.

Pursuant to a pre-mortem request by Johnson, permission was granted by the Los Angeles authorities for removal of Johnson's body to Santa Ana for interment and the investigation by Coroner Brown was under way today at the Smith and Tuthill mortuary, the findings to be forwarded to Coroner Nance, of Los Angeles.

Coroner Brown yesterday conducted an inquest over the body of W. H. Dover, 72, of Orange, who died as the result of injuries sustained November 21 when he fell from a scaffolding at the packing house of the Santiago Orange Growers' association in Orange. A verdict of accidental death was returned.

The death of Natsuko Naide, 22, Japanese high school student, who

Police Seek Autoist In Green Car as Suspect in Two Deaths

PASADENA, Dec. 3.—New clues to the identity of the speeding motorist who Saturday night ran down and killed Mrs. Mary E. Wiley, and her daughter, Jessie Wiley, were obtained by police today. A dairymaid informed the officers that he saw a large green touring car of the same make as the one occupied by the death party steaming back into the city at 1:30 a. m. today, coming down a side street, as if under cover.

Three young men who witnessed the tragedy revealed themselves to the authorities. They said two men and one woman were in the car, when the big machine struck the woman, the driver slowed down as if to stop, the witnesses reported, but the other man in the car urged him to go on. The car then sped ahead.

Both women were almost instantly killed. Mrs. Wiley suffered a fractured skull and a broken leg, while her daughter's neck was snapped by the crushing impact of the car.

Seize Gov. Of Indiana On Fraud Charges

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., Dec. 3.—Governor Warren T. McCray was formally arrested today on the indictments returned against him last week by the Marion county grand jury.

The capias was served on McCray by George Snider, sheriff of Marion county, and Claude Worley, special investigator for the Marion county criminal court. McCray was released immediately on $25,000 bond. McCray was indicted on 191 counts charging forgery, embezzlement and grand larceny.

TWO BANDITS TAKEN AFTER MAKING HAUL

Officers In Gun Duel With Robbers Shoot Pair and Recover Part of $4000.

HOLLYWOOD, Dec. 3.—Two bandits who today robbed George W. Potter, Pacific Electric cashier, of more than $4,000, were captured in the hills near here after officers had fatally wounded Arthur Doslin and seriously injured Howard Hannah.

Doslin is in the receiving hospital here and is expected to die. The pair after committing the robbery at Sherman terminal fled toward the mountains in their car, but it was abandoned at Beverly Hills.

Part of the loot was discovered in the automobile, but police believe that a considerable portion is missing.

After the men left their car, police followed them into the hills where the battle occurred.

FINAL MOVE IN CRAIG PARDON PLEA NEAR

(By United Press Leased Wire) WASHINGTON, Dec. 3.—Attorney General Daugherty has recommended that President Coolidge pardon Charles L. Craig, controller of the City of New York, it was learned on high authority today.

A formal pardon for Craig has been prepared by Daugherty for President Coolidge to sign or disapprove. It will be sent to the White House within two or three hours.

President Coolidge's decision on the case will be made known late today or tomorrow morning, it was stated definitely at the White House today. The announcement will come from the department of justice. It was intimated that instead of an outright pardon, Mr. Coolidge had decided simply to remit the sixty-day contempt sentence imposed on Craig.

Riverside-Beaumont Road Due For Paving

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 3.—The six and one-half miles of road between Redlands and Beaumont is to be paved. It was decided today by the state highway department.

Other paving to be completed in the near future is as follows: 15.9 miles between San Diego and Oceanside, 15.8 miles southward from the southern boundary of Camarillo, seven-tenths of a mile in Beaumont and 3.9 miles in Westmoreland.

13 CONVICTS IN DARING BREAK

POLITICIANS LOOKING TO S. DAKOTA

Three Parties Gather For Conventions With Hot Contests Looming

PIERRE, S. D., Dec. 3.—Leaders of the Democratic, Republican and Farmer-Labor parties of South Dakota gathered here today for their conventions tomorrow to select national candidates and prepare platforms.

The conventions will provide the country with the first feel of the political pulse. The conventions are scheduled to get under way at noon tomorrow.

Senator Hiram Johnson, California, who has announced his candidacy for the Republican nomination for President, may walk off with the endorsement of the South Dakota Republicans, due to the refusal of President Coolidge to announce his candidacy at this time. Word from Washington here is that Mr. Coolidge will not be ready to announce himself until some time after the new congress convenes. This leaves virtually a clear field for Johnson here.

Supporters of Mr. Coolidge, however, believe that if he decides to get his name on the primary ballot he can do so by taking action any time before January 1. It takes only five dissatisfied proposal men to place a minority candidate on the ticket.

The real Republican fight is between United States Senator Sterling, seeking re-election, and Governor W. H. McMaster, who directed South Dakota's war against high gasoline prices.

"McMasters will sweep the convention," J. H. Wooley, McMaster's leader in the fight for nomination to the senate, said today.

"We already have 50,000 votes lined up for him."

Congressman Royal Johnson, William Williams and O. A. Christopherson probably will be re-elected.

The Democrats face a bitter fight. Supporters of William G. McAdoo and Henry Ford will stake a stubborn fight for endorsement of their candidates. Both sides are confident.

James Houlihan, Watertown, and Eric Ellefson, Sioux Falls, Ford leaders at the convention, want a fusion of all progressive forces, including the Farmer-Laborites, to "drain" Ford for the Presidency.

W. W. Home, state Democratic chairman, who favors McAdoo, will lead the anti-Ford forces. He is open for a deal with the Farmer-Labor group if the latter will endorse McAdoo.

THREE FLYERS IN DEATH PLUNGE AS TWO PLANES MEET

SAN DIEGO, Dec. 3.—Three navy aviators were killed in a midair crash here today.

The dead: Lieutenant Fred Merritt Byers, 29, Corode, Pa. Aviation Machinist Mate Willard Benjamin Jackson, 26, Coffeyville, Kansas. Aviation Machinist's Mate Thomas Ellsworth Enwhistle, 29, Fall River, Mass.

The men were flying at an altitude of about 1000 feet when the crash occurred. The machines fell and the men were killed instantly. An aviator who was aloft with the aviation mates was so seriously injured that he is not expected to live.

One of the machines was a single passenger seaplane. The other was a double seater. The planes were circling the island when they crashed. They were just over the bridge that connects Coronado with North Island, where the aviation field is located.

One of the planes fell into the Spanish light, the east side of the bridge, while the other plunged into the water west of the bridge.

As soon as the planes hit, observers in the tower on the island reported to the commanding officers. Special speed boats were dispatched. A number of speed boats in the harbor rushed to the accident. The men were removed from the wreckage as soon as possible. They were dead and evidently had been killed instantly.

Lieut. Byers was flying in a southern direction and the other

Six New Solons Face Hot Contests to Hold Seats

WASHINGTON, Dec. 3.—Six contests, involving the rights of members to their seats, are scheduled for consideration in the new Congress. Of these, five are in the house and one in the senate.

The Mayfield case, which promises to become as celebrated in some respects as the long drawn-out Newberry case, involves the right of Earle B. Mayfield of Texas to represent that state in the senate as successor to former Senator Culberson.

Though papers have not formally been filed, they have been prepared by former Senator Bailey of Texas for presentation to the senate elections committee. The case against Mayfield is based upon allegations that his election constituted violation of the state election laws, and that it deprived the people of the state of free expression of their will in selection of a senator. The Ku Klux Klan question enters into the case, although it may not be considered directly.

Five contested cases, four of which are from New York districts, face the house for settlement. They include Moore (Rep.) vs. Clark (Dem.), Ga.; Gorman (Rep.) vs. Buckley (Dem.), Ill.; Anson (Rep.) vs. Weller (Dem.), N. Y.; Frank (Dem.) vs. La Guardia (Rep.), N. Y.; and Chandler (Rep.) vs. Bloom (Dem.), N. Y.

$5,000,000 FUND FOR COAST PORTS AIM OF ENGINEER

(By United Press Leased Wire) WASHINGTON, Dec. 3.—Work on rivers and harbors of the Pacific coast to cost approximately $5,000,000 was recommended today by the chief of army engineers in submitting, for the use of the opening session of Congress, his estimates of funds needed.

Recommendation for work on the Pacific coast include $910,000 for the Columbia and Willamette rivers below Portland, Ore., and $909,000 for Coos Bay, Oregon, these being the largest items on the list for the Pacific coast.

New work and maintenance to cost $381,000 is recommended for Humboldt Bay, California. It is the third largest item. Other California recommendations include:

Flood control under the California debris commission, $500,000. San Francisco harbor, new work and maintenance, $150,000. Oakland harbor, new work, $245,000.

Richmond harbor, new work, $256,000, one-half of which is to be provided by local interests. San Pablo Bay and Mare Island Strait, new work, $130,000. Suisun Bay channel, maintenance, $13,000.

Petaluma Creek, maintenance, $37,000. San Rafael Creek, maintenance, $30,000. Crescent City, new work, $200,000. San Joaquin River, new work, $26,000. Sacramento River, various work, $96,000.

Total appropriations of $45,428,065 are recommended. In addition there was recommended for examinations, surveys and contingencies in rivers and harbor work $400,000, and for flood control under Mississippi river commission, Mississippi river and tributaries $10,000,000.

The Democrats face a bitter fight. Supporters of William G. McAdoo and Henry Ford will stake a stubborn fight for endorsement of their candidates. Both sides are confident.

James Houlihan, Watertown, and Eric Ellefson, Sioux Falls, Ford leaders at the convention, want a fusion of all progressive forces, including the Farmer-Laborites, to "drain" Ford for the Presidency.

W. W. Home, state Democratic chairman, who favors McAdoo, will lead the anti-Ford forces. He is open for a deal with the Farmer-Labor group if the latter will endorse McAdoo.

Banker Loses Foot In Hunting Accident

OAKLAND, Calif., Dec. 3.—Fred Rotter, bank teller of Oakland, was in a Berkeley hospital today, his left foot torn away by a charge of shot from a shotgun.

His condition was reported critical. Earl Carter of Oakland brought him to the hospital, saying that the shot had been fired by accident while he, Mrs. Rotter and Mrs. Carter were returning from a rabbit hunt during the night. They had been hunting on the marsh near Martinez.

Coast Billiardist Seeks World Title

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 3.—In a determined effort to bring the 18.2 ball game to the Pacific coast, the local star, left today for Chicago to meet Willie Hoppe, the present champion, in the play-off made necessary by his tying the champion in the international tournament held in New York in November.

Yeggmen Move Safe To Get $5000 Loot

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 3.—Police are looking today for burglars, who some time last night entered the jewelry store of Charles Myle, moved a 700-pound safe containing $5,000 worth of jewelry and money to a waiting truck and left without touching any of the other valuables in the store.

GANG ELUDES HOUNDS PUT ON TRAIL

Old Tunnel Used By Desperate Kansas Prisoners In Making Escape

(By United Press Leased Wire) LANSING, Kans., Dec. 3.—A clean getaway has been made by thirteen prisoners who escaped from the Kansas state prison here Sunday, officials admitted today.

Poses and bloodhounds have followed to the end every possible trail and trace of the fugitives from the prison, without result.

A dense woods eight miles from Leavenworth, where a group of the convicts were believed surrounded, was scoured but the prisoners were not found.

The delivery was not discovered until more than an hour after the men were outside the prison walls. When the convicts sat down for supper, 13 vacant places were noticed. An investigation showed that the missing prisoners had cut a hole in the wall of the power house, burrowed through five feet of dirt to the entrance of an abandoned tunnel 14 by 16 inches.

Crawl Through Tunnel Through this narrow hole, half filled with mud and slime the men worked their way to liberty. A general alarm was sounded. Powerful searchlights from the prison trucks were turned on the underbrush along the river. Bloodhounds bayed as they followed the fresh trail.

Discarded prison garb was found at the end of the tunnel where it empties into a small creek, indicating that the men found civilian clothes waiting. Authorities said the men had apparently been given outside aid.

Tracks showed the convicts had divided into two groups, one attempting to make its way toward Kansas City and the other toward Leavenworth.

Mary Pickford Tells Girls to Stay Home

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 3.—Girls who would be movie stars were to be advised today by Mary Pickford not to try it. With thousands of Los Angeles admirers of the actress attending, "Mary Pickford Day" was to be celebrated by a big downtown celebration, concert and series of addresses, climaxed by a speech by "America's Sweetheart" herself.

Miss Pickford announced that her little talk would contain a lot of advice for girls who seek to break into the movies. That advice, she declared, is to stay at home and forget it.

Warden A. B. Anderson believes the escape was planned and directed by Frank C. Castro, a one-eyed half breed Indian serving his second term for robbery. Castro was a prisoner 30 years ago, when a new tunnel was built and the old one abandoned.

Prison officials had forgotten the existence of the old tunnel and none of the prison charts or maps showed it.

However, Castro knew exactly where it started and by burrowing through the power house concrete walls he created an avenue of escape.

Most of the men who escaped were serving terms of from ten to twenty years for robbery.

Sugar Factories Here Not Hit By Ruling

Sugar factories in Orange county will not be affected by the recent decision of the United States supreme court, upholding the crop contract amendment to the alien land law, according to statements today by managers of the factories.

While reports from San Francisco indicate that Japanese have cancelled contracts for crops on approximately 200,000 acres in the state, it was said here that no contracts are held by the local sugar companies with alien Japanese.

C. A. Johnson, manager of the Holly Sugar company interests in the county, stated that his company had contracts with a few Japanese who had been Americanized.

Democratic Action Depends On Coolidge Message, Says McAdoo

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 3.—"We democrats are going to wait until after Mr. Coolidge has said in his message to congress," William G. McAdoo, potential candidate for the presidency, declared here today.

He made the statement in refusing to discuss politics for interviewers.

McAdoo spent today conferring with democratic leaders here, including Charles Fay, Gavin McNab and former Senator James D. Phelan. McAdoo was Phelan's guest here yesterday.

November Hard Month For Bootleggers

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 3.—The way of the bootlegger is hard—especially in Los Angeles county—if figures made public today by dry officials can be accepted.

Through the efforts of city, county and federal officers, over 500 violators of the Wright act and the eighteenth amendment were hauled to justice during the month of November. Twenty thousand dollars has been collected in fines in the county courts alone and nearly 1,000 cases are now pending in the federal courts.

In spite of continued warnings that all roadhouses were to be raided, more than 50 men have been forced to leave gay parties to go to jail.

FORD MEETS COOLIDGE AT WHITE HOUSE

Muscle Shoals Topic of Conversation During Conference, Auto Man Admits.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 3.—Henry Ford called on President Coolidge today.

It was announced he intended to discuss what the government proposed to do with the Muscle Shoals proposition.

Ford was accompanied to the White House by E. G. Liebold, his private secretary, and W. B. Mayo, his chief engineer.

On leaving, Ford said he had talked about Muscle Shoals to the President but declined to say anything beyond that.

MYSTERY DEATH OF BOY STIRS RED LEADERS

(By United Press Leased Wire) CHICAGO, Dec. 3.—This pocket weighted with revolvers, Philippe Daudet, 15-year-old son of Leon Daudet, Royalist leader, was found dead in a taxicab a week ago last Saturday. Out of the boy's death has arisen a mystery that apparently holds all the elements of bloody factional strife—scarcely repressed today white "Camelots" and Communists guard their respective headquarters and mutter of assassinations.

Leon Daudet, editor of the Action Francaise, at first gave out that his son died of illness. An anarchist newspaper, the Libertaire, published a sensational story that Young Daudet had turned anarchist and after offering to "kill anyone they wanted to get out of the way" committed suicide. The youth's father then announced belief that his son had been assassinated by communists.

The fact that three revolvers were found in Young Daudet's possession demonstrated, according to the communists, that he intended to kill someone. Leon Daudet argues the revolvers "were planted."

Everyone interested in the "Camelots," the Royalist organ, or communist or anarchist parties, is engaged in the debate, which is preoccupying Paris. The youth's body was smuggled home and buried without an autopsy. Now it is to be exhumed.

The police believe the youth was insane and are supported in the theory that he committed suicide by testimony of the taxicab driver.

Report Forty Dead As Mine Cage Falls

LEEDS, England, Dec. 3.—Forty men were reported killed or injured today when a rope in the Nurey coal mine broke, hurling several cars filled with miners to the bottom of the shaft.

Gay Throng Present While Galleries were Filling

While the galleries were filling with gaily dressed women and their escorts, on the floors of the house and the senate old members returning greeted colleagues and new members, venturing for the first time in the famous legislative chambers, were introduced.

As noon struck, William Tyler Page, clerk of the house, called the house to order and asked the call of the roll to ascertain whether there was a quorum. Immediately afterward, representative Longworth moved to proceed to election of a speaker, thus precipitating the contest with the Progressive bloc, who have declared they will not permit election of Representative Gillett, administration candidate for speaker, unless the house rules are liberalized.

Senator Cummins, president pro tempore of the senate, called that body to order.

Swear In Senators Senator Lodge moved that thirty-five new and re-elected members be sworn in and the oath was administered by Cummins. Formal adoption of resolutions informing the house that the senate was ready for business, fixing the daily hour of meeting at noon and providing for compensation of the chaplain and other employees of the senate.

DEADLOCK IN HOUSE VOTING

Progressives Block Election of Gillett As Speaker On First Ballot

SENATORS ADJOURN AFTER BRIEF MEET

Gala Scene Marks Initial Gathering of Sixty-Eighth Congress

(By United Press Leased Wire) WASHINGTON, Dec. 3.—The sixty-eighth congress met at noon today and within an hour, torn by factional strife, was plunged into a deadlock over the election of a speaker of the house.

On the first ballot for speaker, the vote stood:

Gillett, Massachusetts, administration candidate, 198; Cooper, Wisconsin, Progressive candidate, 17; Garrett, Tennessee, Democrat, 15; Madden, Illinois, Republican, 5. Those present and not voting, four.

It required 214 votes, a majority of the whole house, to elect.

Tyler Page, house clerk, who presided, announced that there was no election and the second roll call began at once.

The second ballot likewise failed to produce an election. The vote was Gillett 195; Garrett 193; Cooper 17; Madden 6. The third ballot was immediately begun.

House leaders were engaged in a controversy over the number required to elect. Some held a majority of the whole house, or 218 votes; others insisted a majority of those present and voting would be enough.

Neither case, Gillett lost ground on the second ballot. On the second ballot, Madden gained one vote, that of Representative Yates, Illinois.

The Democrats voted solidly for Garrett.

On the third ballot, Representative Garrett, Tennessee, Democrat, went out into the lead by one vote, setting the Democrats wild with joy. The vote failed, however, to show any elected candidate.

The candidates stood on this ballot:

Garrett 198; Gillett 195; Cooper 17; Madden 5. Present and not voting, 3.

Yates, Illinois, who voted for Madden on the second ballot, changed his vote to Garrett.

The house adjourned at 3:47 p. m. without having elected a speaker.

Adjournment followed taking of the fourth ballot, on which the vote stood: Gillett, 197; Garrett, 196; Cooper, 17; Madden, 5; present and not voting, 3.

For hours before the clock in the senate wing of the capitol struck its twelve o'clock, the capitol, the plaza at the east front and the house and senate office buildings were thronged with men and women dressed as for a brilliant social occasion. The house was the center of attraction, for it was there the bitter factional warfare threatened first.

Gay Throng Present While the galleries were filling with gaily dressed women and their escorts, on the floors of the house and the senate old members returning greeted colleagues and new members, venturing for the first time in the famous legislative chambers, were introduced.

BATTLE MARKS OPENING OF CONGRESS

the senate followed.

Adjournment was taken upon adoption of a resolution expressing the senate's sorrow at the death of Senators Knute Nelson, Minnesota; Nicholson, Colorado and Dillingham, Vermont.

In his prayer opening the session of the senate, Rev. J. J. Muir, chaplain, asked for the blessing of God upon Mrs. Florence Harding, widow of the late president.

Senator Hiram Johnson, who recently announced his candidacy for the presidency, walked among the Republicans meeting everyone just before the gavel fell.

La Follette Absent
Senator La Follette, who holds the dictatorial balance of power in the senate, was absent. When his name was called, Senator Lenroot announced La Follette was absent because of illness.

Senator Mayfield, Texas, against whose election a contest is to be filed, was formally sworn in with the others.

Mrs. Coolidge, with three friends, came into the gallery just after the session started and closely watched the presiding officer, Senator Cummins, who sat in the chair formerly occupied by President Coolidge as vice-president.

In the house, after the call to order 45 minutes were consumed in calling the roll to see whether a quorum was present. This showed 417 of the 435 members present.

Representative Anderson, Minnesota, nominated Representative Gillett, Massachusetts, for speaker when nominations were called for.

Bryan Takes Hand
William Jennings Bryan entered the speakership fight when he appeared in the lobby and urged Democrats to unite with the Progressives to elect a speaker, but apparently made little progress with his suggestions. Democratic leaders said they would stick to their decision to keep hands off the row within the Republican ranks.

The members of the Republican side rose and cheered, with few exceptions, when Gillett was nominated.

The nomination of Democratic Leader Garrett, Tennessee, for speaker by Representative Rainey, Illinois, got an even more vociferous reception from the Democratic side.

Representative Browne, Wisconsin, then nominated Representative Cooper, Wisconsin, for speaker as a candidate of the Progressive-Republicans.

ROBINSON TO LEAD SENATE DEMOCRATS
WASHINGTON, Dec. 3.—Senator Joe Robinson of Arkansas was chosen flood leader by the senate democratic caucus today.

Robinson succeeds Senator Underwood of Alabama, who declined to accept the leadership again because of his health and the arduous duties which the job entails.

The democrats unanimously decided to back Senator Key Pittman of Nevada for presidency of the senate.

Senator Gerry, Rhode Island, was re-elected whip and Senator King, Utah, secretary of the caucus.

The democratic party will stand for a material reduction in taxes, Senator Robinson announced after his election.

Robinson announced the Democrats would fight for retrenchment in public expenditures, and study of the railway situation in relation to freight rates and farm relief.

IS GIVEN 60 DAYS IN $10 TOOL THEFT

Admitting that he had removed tools valued at $10 from the ranch of J. F. Elopson when he left Elopson's employment, Vero Wood pleaded guilty today in Justice J. B. Cox's court to a charge of petit larceny and was sentenced to sixty days in the county jail.

Elopson told the court that he had discharged Wood as being unreliable and that he had missed the tools after Wood left. A search located the missing articles in Wood's possession, he said.

After admitting his guilty Wood asked for time to see an attorney and consult his "folks" before sentence was pronounced. Justice Cox remarked that if Wood was guilty all the lawyers in the state couldn't help him, but agreed to permit Wood to withdraw his plea and go to trial if the defendant wished. When Wood found that there was no open date on the calendar within the next two months he decided to allow his plea to remain and take his sentence at once.

His request that a fine be imposed, so that he could remain at liberty to support his wife, was refused.

SEIZE SUSPECT IN LOVE PIRATE CASE

(By United Press Leased Wire)
LOS ANGELES, Dec. 3.—With Grover McClain under arrest here today on a charge of grand larceny, the police believe they have another alleged "love pirate" behind the bars.

McClain was arrested at the instigation of Mrs. Lillian Breslow McClain, said to be a wealthy San Franciscan, who claims that he left her two days after he married her taking with him $500 of her money.

He was arrested while in the company of Miss Lillian Howard, of Seattle, who he had planned to marry, according to Mrs. McClain.

ATTENDANCE AT 'Y' MEET LED BY COUNTY

Orange county sent the largest delegation of any county in Southern California to the Older Boys' and Laymen's conference, held at Pomona November 30 to December 2, under the auspices of the Y. M. C. A., according to T. P. McKee, group secretary of the local Y. M. C. A.

McKee said that the delegates from Orange county totaled 90. This was the largest delegation and also the noisiest, McKee said. There were 469 delegates and many visitors present during the three days of the conference.

The principal speakers during the conference were: The Rev. Bob Schuler, of Los Angeles; Ralph G. Coe, state boys' work secretary of the Y. M. C. A.; Leon V. Shaw, Pasadena, banker, and Harry O. Hill, state secretary of the Y. M. C. A.

McKee said that one of the interesting features of the conference was a talk by Ray Mormon who was in Smyrna during the recent massacre and pillaging of that town.

Fifteen boys from Santa Ana, Edwin Cox, Harold Smith, Russell Menderscheid, Jack Kirmse, Walter Wurster, Robert O'Brien, John Byres, Laurence Bowe, Herbert Decker, Albert Sheets, George Decker, James Gilstrap, John Harper, Howard Youel and Eugene Bedall, attended as delegates.

men in a northerly course when the accident occurred. The plan carrying the two enlisted men crumpled and sank immediately. The machinist makes were killed instantly and it was some time before the twisted wreckage could be brought to the surface so their bodies could be recovered.

Byers was rushed to the fleet air hospital, where he died on the operating table.

No reason for the accident was offered by officers at the air station. They announced an investigation would be conducted immediately.

Death Notices

A WORD OF COMFORT
Your child may know more of you than you have known him unless you change your ways. If you would bring your child the most precious treasure, it is for you yourself to learn to think of God as your loving Father, reaching out His arms through all the beauty of the world and through all the joys of life.
When difficulties and perplexities abound, reach out for Him. He is close beside you, but He will not compel your sorrow. He either joys or sorrows with Him.

HARRIS—In Santa Ana, December 2, 1923, Mrs. Veranda B. Harris, aged 49 years, daughter of Mrs. Elizabeth D. McLeod of 632 North Birch street. Mrs. Harris also leaves a sister, Mrs. Frank C. Townsend of this city, and a brother, C. E. McLeod, of Los Angeles.

Services will be held from the Winthier Mission funeral home to be held at 2 p. m., the Rev. Will A. Belts officiating.

Those wishing to do so may call tomorrow between the hours of 10 and 1 o'clock as the casket will remain closed at the services.
Interment to follow at Fairview Mausoleum.

DELONG—At his home, 812 Halesworth street, December 2, 1923, F. M. DeLong, aged 86 years.
Notice of funeral to be given later by Smith and Tuttle.

Deceased leaves a wife, Mrs. Lucetta DeLong and three daughters, Mrs. Rosetta Halesworth and Mrs. Viola Franklin of Santa Ana and Mrs. Martha E. McKenzie of Highlands.

JOHNSON—At Lomita, Calif., December 2, 1923, Peter F. Johnson, aged 65 years.
Funeral services tomorrow at 2 p. m. from Smith and Tuttle's chapel. Deceased was a former resident of Newport Beach.

CARD OF THANKS.
We wish to thank our many friends for their kindness and sympathy, shown us during the loss of our beloved mother. Also the beautiful floral offerings. J. and Beulah Nussbaumer.

Man Sues to Collect Workers' Wage Claims

Representing various workmen whose labor claims were assigned to him for collection, George Cradit, of Anaheim, had today filed two superior court actions here, one against Joe Siegel, former head of the Anaheim Building corporation, and the other against J. E. Hartley, who had been identified with construction jobs performed by the plaintiffs for Siegel.

In the action against Siegel, Hartley's claim was among those of other workmen, which totalled $50.66. The suit against Hartley asked judgment for $151.36, representing small labor claims. Besides that of Hartley the claims included those of Charles Hoadley, Fred Kaps, M. W. McWilliams, J. Rorabeck, Joe Cadote, A. Stanley and C. Rutherford.

Attorneys Weisel and Stark represent Cradit.

News Briefs

Among other things being passed to The Register editorial staff today were cigars, the compliments of E. Merle Hussong, county editor and editor of The Junior Register. Simultaneously it was announced that he and Mrs. Hussong were grooming a daughter at the Community hospital to be a feature writer. Little Miss Mary Yvonne was born late yesterday.

Marcus Skarstedt, head of the department of mathematics at Whittier college, will address the Brotherhood of the First Congregational church at its meeting tomorrow at 6:30 p. m., the Rev. Perry F. Schrock, pastor of the church, announced today. His subject will be "Some Ideas of the Schoolmaster." Miss Arline Birchard, pianist, and Earl E. Barr, baritone soloist, will provide music. The meeting is open to all who may wish to attend.

"The Villagers" will be heard this evening over KFAW. The Register radio phone, in a program of the latest orchestral hits. This orchestra played at The Register studio two weeks ago and from all reports received made a decided hit with KFAW's audience. "The Villagers" orchestra is composed of carefully selected local talent under the direction of Walter Martin, a violinist who has been identified with several good organizations in the East before locating in Santa Ana.

The state railroad commission in session in Los Angeles, today granted the Postal Telegraph company permission to open a station in Santa Ana, according to word received here.

The railroad commission has authorized Pickwick Stages, Inc., and Fred A. Sutherland, operating Sutherland's Tia Juana stages, to establish joint through routes between Los Angeles, San Diego and Tia Juana, Mexico, and Santa Ana, San Diego and Tia Juana, Mexico, according to word received here today.

"What the Boys Think About the Girls" is the subject to be discussed tomorrow afternoon before the Girls' league of the high school by Mrs. J. K. McDonald of Huntington Beach. Mrs. McDonald was for a number of years one of the two women teachers in the boys' high school in Huntington Beach. She is keeping up her interest in educational matters. Miss Virginia Thatcher will preside.

Building permits issued here today totalled $3450. The total for the month was $3450 and the annual total was increased to $4,971,132.

Three debates in one week is almost a record, so local high school argument experts believed as they put final touches on their speeches for today's debate with Corona at 3 p. m. In a simultaneous debate on the question of the United States joining the world court, Miss Alice Olive Forsey and Roy De Mars were to argue the negative here and Miss Dorothy Clarkson and Gail Jordan were to go to Corona. Other debates on the same subject and with the same local teams will be with San Bernardino tomorrow and Citrus Wednesday.

DELAY HEARING OF PAIR IN RUM DEATH

Delay for further preparations to probe the case of A. P. Monahan and Frank A. Gilroy, charged with manslaughter, was granted by Justice J. B. Cox, who, today, continued their preliminary examination to December 10 at 10 a. m.

Monahan and Gilroy were jointly accused of manslaughter in connection with the death of Joe Conroy, Huntington Park glass worker, who, according to the findings of a coroner's jury, died from the effects of poison booze. Monahan, a Huntington Beach oil worker, and Gilroy, who lives in Los Angeles, were pointed out by Torgo Anderson, companion of Conroy, as the men who sold liquor to Conroy and Anderson just before Conroy's death.

Conroy was found dead in an automobile in which he and Anderson had started for a drive after purchasing the liquor. Anderson stopped the car at Westminster to "get warm" and found that his companion had succumbed.

Monahan and Gilroy are held in the county jail under $10,000 bail each.

LAY ACCOSTING OF WOMEN TO KIDNAP PLOT

Three reports were made to Santa Ana police over the week end that men were annoying women on the streets, kidnapping, police believe, may have been the motive for the accosting of a woman and her daughter as they were returning at a late hour from a dance.

L. G. Purdy, 307 West Chestnut street, told the police that Mrs. Purdy, and their daughter were returning from a dance about 12 o'clock Saturday night and as they neared the Purdy home they were accosted by a man who attempted to engage the two women in conversation.

According to Purdy this is the second time that the same man has accosted his wife. Both Mr. and Mrs. Purdy said they feared the man wanted to kidnap their daughter.

Two young men driving an automobile Saturday night, persisted in efforts to persuade two school girls to accompany them on an automobile ride. They accosted the girls at Fourth street and Broadway and, when the girls refused to accompany them, drove along beside them to Third street and Broadway where they again attempted to persuade the girls to get in the automobile.

Police were summoned last night by Bert Dawson, who said that two men attempted to attack two women in the 300 block on South Birch street. Dawson said that the women screamed and ran to his residence for protection. The two men fled and Dawson escorted the women to their home. Police patrolled the neighborhood but could find no trace of the men.

Slumber Perturbed, S. A. Man Requests Police to Slay Owl

Police are called on for many varied duties but City Marshal Claude Rogers said this morning that a prominent contractor here had just put over one of the strangest requests that has ever been made of the department.

There is an owl that makes a practice of roosting in a tree near the contractor's residence. That is not so bad, but Mr. Owl persists in making the night hideous with his "Hoo-Hoo" stuff. That is not so good, said the contractor.

The man came to police headquarters this morning and asked that an officer be detailed to watch the house tonight and slay the bird as soon as he starts his evening song. City Marshal Rogers informed him that would be impossible. He did send the seeker after relief to the fire department with the comforting assurance that the boys of the department would do something for him.

REPORTS ATTEMPTED ROBBERY TO POLICE

Another robbery was attempted in Santa Ana Saturday night according to a report on file at the police station today. The attempted robbery of Robert Shafer's home at the corner of Van Ness avenue and Cubbon street occurred between 8 and 9 o'clock, the report stated.

According to Shafer a strange man tried to force his way into the house during his absence. He also attempted to coax Mrs. Shafer to open the front door. Shafer said. Police searched the neighborhood but could not find the man.

Theft Case Dismissed As Spitework Claimed

Declaring that he was victim of spite, Sam Fletcher, of Orange, appeared before Justice J. B. Cox today on a charge of burglary preferred by Blanche Hunt, 739 East Chapman avenue, Orange, with whom Fletcher said he had been boarding. After hearing the case, Justice Cox dismissed the charge, expressing the opinion that it "appeared to be a case of disappointed affection."

Fletcher was formally charged with entering the Hunt residence with the intent to commit larceny. It was shown that he had been living at the house. He declared that he had merely taken some belongings from a trunk in the owner's presence.

Mrs. Henry Burger Tells How Cuticura Healed Sister

"When my sister was only a few days old eczema broke out all over her head and body. The skin was very red and small white-topped pimples which grew larger and spread, forming sore eruptions, until she was completely covered. She was very fretful and cross and we had to keep cotton around her as the eruptions were so sore that she could hardly stand to be touched."

"A neighbor suggested that we try Cuticura Soap and Ointment so we purchased some and in one month she was completely healed." (Signed) Mrs. Henry Burger, Glasgow, Mont.

Cuticura Soap, Ointment and Talcum are all you need for every-day toilet and nursery purposes. Sample Free by Mail. Address: "Cuticura Laboratories, Dept. 3, Malden 44, Mass." Sold everywhere. Cuticura Soap shaves without lather.

City Teachers To Hear Educator As Institute Number

Geoffrey Morgan, educator and lecturer, who will deliver an address at the Frances E. Willard junior high school here tomorrow evening.

With Prof. J. A. Cranston, superintendent of city schools, designating the lecture as a teachers' institute number, it was expected today that there would be large audience tomorrow night at the Frances E. Willard Junior high school, when Geoffrey P. Morgan delivers his lecture on "Success With Ease," as one of the numbers of the Junior high school entertainment course.

According to H. G. Nelson, principal of the Julia C. Lathrop Junior high school, Cranston has advised all teachers of the city that they must attend the lecture as part of their institute work.

Formerly principal of schools at Riverside, Morgan advanced in the educational world to the department of education at the University of Iowa. He now is engaged on a coast to coast lecture tour. Pointing out that Morgan has lectured to representative audiences throughout the county, Nelson said today that the ideas presented by the lecturer under his topic are plain, straight-forward and feasible, while his talk is interspersed with a generous amount of humor.

"He is inspirational and at the same time so logical and practical, that everybody benefits from what he has to say," said Nelson. "He makes an intense appeal to young people, who are his hobby, and who respond with enthusiasm to his talks."

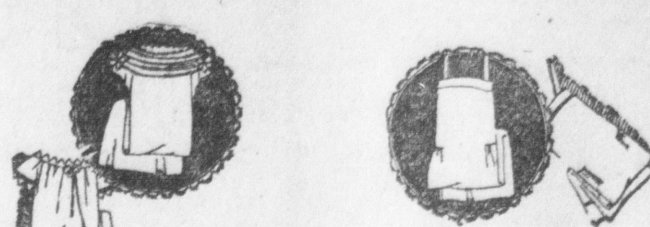

Teachers will be admitted free and the general public is invited. The lecture program will begin at 8 o'clock.

Aid Society Plans to Entertain in Honor of Endeavorers

Planned to honor the intermediate and senior Christian Endeavor societies of the First Christian church is a banquet and social evening which the church Aid society is presenting next Friday night.

The lively group of young people have been invited to assemble at the church dining-rooms in the basement in time for the banquet with which the evening's pleasures will open at 6:30 o'clock. The program to follow will offer William Adamson, Junior College student, as toast master.

Music by the Sunday school orchestra directed by R. S. Briggs will open the formal program which will include special stunts by both branches of the society, readings by Eleanor Young Elliott, musical readings by Miss Cynthia Kirwin, saxophone solos by Lester Schroeder, vocal numbers by Elmer Heidt, remarks by the Rev. F. T. Porter and the address of the evening by Roland E. Dye, Orange County Boy Scout executive.

Local Folk Hear Famous Choir

Among Santa Anans in Los Angeles yesterday to hear the St. Simeon choir from the Vatican at Rome were Mrs. George W. Young and Mrs. Olive Lopez who attended high mass at St. Vibiana's cathedral in the morning and the matinee in the afternoon.

The music of the choir, whose members sing without accompaniment, was wonderfully impressive and marvellously beautiful, especially the soprano parts, sung by men and young boys. A man "prima-donna" whose high notes soar like a Shuman-Heink was an innovation.

The program opened and closed with a little greeting to Los Angeles, "City of the Angels, viva!" and then with the liquid Italian accent received an ovation.

The director, Monsignor Antonio Rella, has been connected with the choir for the past twenty years and for eight years its conductor. He plays upon the voices of his fifty-two singers, including twenty young lads, like a harpist upon his harp.

The genealogy of the choir dates back to a period of remote antiquity and for centuries it has set the standard of the world for choral singing and enjoyed the exclusive privilege of appearing at all services and ceremonies at which the pope officiates in person. The members are said to be perfect exponents of bel canto (beautiful songs) and their singing creates an impression of wonder and delight.

Christmas Plans Made At Thanksgiving

Plans for their annual Christmas party were made by members of a happy family group gathered Thanksgiving day as guests of Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Richards of 1809 North Bush street.

At the Thanksgiving celebration when turkey and all the delicacies of the season were served at the enjoyable feast, rollicking games were enjoyed by the younger members of the group which included all relatives in Southern California. Among the lively games, the apple-eating contest between Virginia Viau and Carmel Swain attracted the most interest.

The Christmas plans made by the older members of the family included the invitation from Mr. and Mrs. N. E. Watson to have the celebration at their Valencia street home. Numbers were drawn for the exchange of gifts.

Mr. and Mrs. Richards' guests included Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Wool, W. N. Cartmill, Mr. and Mrs. J. U. Viau and daughters, Lela, Virginia and Veneta, and son, George; Mr. and Mrs. W. S. Swain and daughters, Jessie, Lucille, Carmel and Georgiana; Miss Blanche Cartmill, Mr. and Mrs. N. E. Watson and little son, Richard; Mr. and Mrs. T. E. Tournat and the Misses Ruth and Nora Cartmill.

Lincoln School Plans Evening Program

Hoping to realize a sum sufficient to complete the payments on their piano, the small folk of Lincoln school plan an interesting entertainment for Tuesday night, December 11, at 7:30 o'clock.

The piano was recently installed in the assembly room apart from the main building and has already proved its worth in the physical culture classes and other school activities centering in the assembly room.

The children have made the payments by small individual donations and hope to clear up all indebtedness as a result of their entertainment when an interesting program will be presented in the school kindergarten room.

Inter Se Club

Santa Ana Daughter Wedded In Gardena Thanksgiving Day

At 4 o'clock in the afternoon of Thanksgiving day, Miss Sarah Bullock Snow became the bride of Leo Blakely Callan at the home of the bride's sister, Mrs. Charles A. Robinson of Gardena.

Miss Snow, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Snow of this city is a graduate of University of Southern California and a member of Kappa Delta sorority.

The double ring ceremony was employed and the service was read by the Rev. W. A. Betts, pastor of the First Methodist Episcopal church of this city. It was preceded by two vocal numbers, "Because" and "My Dearest Prayer" sung by Mrs. Hulda Dietz to the piano accompaniment of Mrs. N. C. Libbey, aunt of Miss Snow.

Great charm and simplicity marked the nuptials which were witnessed by a group of relatives and close friends. The bride's gown, fashioned of white georgette over white satin, was adorned with pearls and on her veil were lace motifs worn by her mother, Mrs. W. B. Snow and her two sisters, Mrs. C. A. Robinson and Mrs. R. C. Patton, upon their wedding days.

The two bridesmaids, Miss Vivian Newman and Miss Helen Walker, were gowned in orchid and green georgette, the colors of their frocks making a pleasing harmony with the pastel tinted flowers which sounded a decorative note among the banked ferns.

Mr. Callan, also a U. S. C. graduate, and a Zeta Kappa Epsilon fraternity man, was assisted by Norman Anderson as best man. Five sorority sisters of the bride assisted in serving the enjoyable wedding supper.

Mr. and Mrs. Callan will make their home in Los Angeles, where Mr. Callan is freshmen athletic coach at U. S. C.

Art Exhibit Planned

The art exhibition scheduled for December 5, 6 and 7 at the high school is arousing much interest, according to Miss Floy Donaldson, head of the high school and college art departments.

"Elson prints will be on exhibit in the school studios in the east building from 9 o'clock a. m. to 5 p. m. during the three days and a small admission fee will be charged to allow each school to make money with which to purchase pictures for its rooms," declared Miss Donaldson.

Students in all the city schools are enthusiastically selling exhibition tickets to their neighbors and parents it is reported, and the exhibit is going to create a much greater interest in art among all of the school as well as outsiders, Miss Donaldson predicted.

Family Reunion Marks Arrival of Texans

A family reunion which brought together relatives from Texas and those who reside in Santa Ana, was enjoyed yesterday at the hospitable home of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Johnson, 1051 West Chestnut street.

Making a trip of 1630 miles in ten days, the Texas guests numbered Mr. and Mrs. C. O. Burger and three children, who were accompanied by Clyde Evans, A. J. Evans and Miller Wilkenson of Hillsboro, Texas. Mr. and Mrs. Frank Self and family, Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Autery and family, Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Graves and family of Santa Ana, made up the company of twenty-three. No superstitions were attached to the number on account of the joy felt at the safe arrival of the travellers, who left Texas November 20 at 6 a. m. and arrived in Santa Ana November 29 at 5 p. m.

The feature of yesterday's reunion was a sumptuous chicken dinner served at noon. In the afternoon an automobile drive through the Irvine ranch was enjoyed.

The Texans have come here to locate and will make their home at Anaheim.

Past Matrons

Twenty-seven members of the Past Matrons' association of Hermosa chapter, O. E. S. met recently at the Masonic temple for an enjoyable luncheon served by a hostess committee composed of Mrs. H. H. Reeves, Mrs. John A. Harvey and Miss Pauline Reinhaus.

Luncheon tables were charming in yellow and white with button chrysanthemums as the flower motif. Gay yellow bows adorned the crystal candlestick and nut cups carried the same cheery color. Following the luncheon, an adjournment was made to the Harvey home on North Broadway where the afternoon was passed with social chat and needlework. Mrs. Jones was received into membership while Mrs. Noble and Mrs. Alice Ettinger were guests.

Idaho Guest Honored At Bridge Luncheon In Pastel Effects

Employing a colorful mass of blossoms in pastel tints and baskets of red Cantonia asters, Miss Mary Andrews presided over a delightful luncheon Saturday, honoring Miss Maurine Furgeson of Pocatello, Idaho, a house guest in the Andrews home at 810 South Ross street.

Small tables arranged for the luncheon were each centered with the daintily tinted blossoms in emphasizing the color harmony and a delectable menu was enjoyed by the sixteen young women guests.

Miss Andrews offered attractive prizes at the conclusion of the afternoon of bridge, the guests prize of course, going to Miss Furgeson.

The latter took her departure yesterday for Berkeley, where she is enrolled as a student at the University.

Los Angeles Wedding Of Much Interest To Santa Anans

Several angles of the Winston-Lokrantz wedding, which occurred last Wednesday in Los Angeles, gave it much local interest aside from the fact that it was one of the leading social events of the winter in Los Angeles society.

In the marriage was united one of that city's most prominent young medics and a daughter of a leading family of the southland. Miss Carolina Winston, the bride, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Winston, and it was at her parents' home on Lucerne boulevard that the beautiful ceremony was staged when she became the bride of Dr. Sven Lokrantz.

It was to serve as an assistant to that prominent young specialist that Miss Nellie Vance Wilson, last year—head of the physical education at Polytechnic High school, resigned her duties to accept one under him in the Los Angeles schools.

At the wedding where Miss Wilson was among the guests, her brother, Dr. John Wilson, a former Santa Anan, was one of the group of close friends who acted as ushers.

Yellow roses banked the improvised altar where the young couple took their vows and yellow chrysanthemums and roses filled the spacious rooms.

The bride wore an imported gown of beaded white chiffon draped with rose point lace. Her veil was also of rose point and her flowers were lilies of the valley.

Miss Marguerite Winston was her sister's honor maid and was gowned in flame-colored chiffon over cloth of gold with a gold band encircling her hair. A distinctive note was struck in her flowers, deep yellow roses, and a blue ostrich feather fan.

Miss Eleanor MacGowan and Mrs. Jack Winston, completing the bride's attendants, wore varying shades of flame chiffon over cloth of silver and with silver bands in their hair. Each wore a corsage of yellow roses and carried a blue ostrich fan.

Dr. Walter Reeves as best man and Dr. Wilson, Dr. Herbert True, Jack Winston and Frank Simpson, completed the group of attendants. The wedding was followed by a reception at which over two hundred of Los Angeles' most prominent society folk gathered.

Christmas Gifts

PARTY BAGS

The piece bag may yield up the supplies for the party bags sketched here. The one at the left is of arguols satin lined with peach, bound with silver ribbon. Patches of the peach ribbon are embroidered with turquoise chenille. Velvet ribbon tacked down with silver thread makes the leaves.

A two-stripe satin ribbon in dark and light green makes the other bag that is trimmed with scalloped embre ribbons to simulate natural ferns. Silver ribbon is used for the border and handles.

Y. W. C. A.

A good, old-fashioned sewing bee with a real modern up-to-date purpose is to be held by the Junior College Y. W. C. A. tonight at the home of Miss Isabel Anderson on Wellington avenue at 7:30.

Each girl will come to the sewing bee carrying needle, thread, thimble, scissors and an old singham dress. Before the evening is over, singham dresses, which dignified college girls have outgrown, will be transformed into tiny little frocks for Santa Anas little girls who are less fortunate than some of their sisters.

The "Y" girls get together several times during the year to make over their gingham and always declare their sewing bees the most successful parties of the year.

Social Forecast For First Fortnight In December

Among anticipated social events of the fortnight is the bridge at St. Ann's Inn for which Mrs. A. W. Ruten and Mrs. O. H. Eggo have issued cards. The affair will be staged Friday, December 14, and will be a luncheon, with over half a hundred guests.

The following night, Saturday, December 15, will bring the semi-monthly dinner dance at the Inn for which countless smaller parties of from four to a dozen are making reservations. The charm and intimacy of the small parties is too well-known by the dancing set to need comment and the first December dance is expected to be one of the happiest events of the season.

St. Ann's Inn will be a busy place this week when it will serve as headquarters for the California Fruit Growers' association which convenes Wednesday. That night Mrs. F. W. Slabaugh will present a small informal reception in the Inn lobby, welcoming the wives of the assembled fruit growers.

However the Inn will not be entirely given over to the visitors for employees of the Title Insurance company will stage a dinner that night as well.

Thursday night, December 6, will bring the Chamber of Commerce dinner and on the following night, Friday, December 7, the Fruit Growers' convention will end with a big banquet.

The latter half of the month will be marked by many holiday affairs which promise much of interest in the way of dinners, dances and card affairs. Holiday week will offer at least one dinner-dance, that of Saturday night, December 22, and it is probable that the New Year will meet with a lively reception as some social recognition is planned for New Year's eve.

Neighbors of Woodcraft

Tonight at 7:30 o'clock, Neighbors of Woodcraft will assemble for their usual business session at W. M. A. hall. All members are asked to be present and the guards are requested to meet at 7 o'clock, half an hour in advance of the business meeting.

Group of Girls Enjoy Merry Evening With Class President

Miss Thursa Van Nest of 1009 West Sixth street was a most charming hostess one evening late last week to the girls of the J. O. C. Sunday school class of the First Methodist Episcopal church, of which class she is president.

It being the annual business meeting, the following officers were elected: Miss Mary Dunston, president; Miss Inez Hickman, secretary-treasurer.

The evening was spent in clever games and stunts making the hours fly all too quickly. Refreshments of delicious hot chocolate with wafers and homemade candies were served, bringing to a close one of the most pleasant evenings spent by the class.

Those enjoying the evening besides the hostess, Miss Van Nest and her mother, Mrs. Ed. Van Nest and sister, Miss Frances Van Nest, were Mrs. Helen McArthur, class teacher, and the Misses Mary Dunstan, Inez Hickman, Gladys Finuf, Cora Holt, May Adams, Mary Heacock, Ruth Heacock, Marjorie Blauer and Flora Holt.

Enjoy Dinner Party At Long Beach

One of yesterday's pleasant events into which a group of Santa Anans joined, was the dinner which Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Chaud presented at their Long Beach home.

The hostess used many flowers in decorative effect and the table was attractively centered with fall flowers. Motoring over from here for the enjoyment of the delicious dinner were Mr. and Mrs. A. A. Schlusman, Mr. and Mrs. McFee, Mr. and Mrs. Elzey, Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Callahan and Miss Pearl Vogel.

Veteran Rebekahs

Mrs. B. Uttley will entertain the Veteran Rebekahs at her home, 423 East Pine street, Friday afternoon, December 7 at 2 o'clock. Members are reminded to come prepared for the "good-will exchange."

Decides on Best Life Insurance

"Five years ago I was refused life insurance because of my heart symptoms. Doctors said it was caused from a pressure of gas that came from my stomach, but their medicine did not help me and I was getting worse all the time. Three years ago my druggist recommended Mayr's Wonderful Remedy. I took a course of it and believe it is the best life insurance anyone can buy. It helped my trouble at once." ## BEACH BANDIT IS NABBED AT KANSAS CITY

An echo of a burglary at Huntington Beach last winter in which $600 was obtained, was heard here today, when dispatches told of how Grant Hartnell, in custody of police at Kansas City, Mo., confessed to robbing five banks, eleven stores and many oil filling stations within the past year. His holdups included four banks, three stores and two filling stations in California, authorities announced.

Hartnell, alias J. J. Padre, made his confession at the General hospital, Kansas City, where he was taken following an alleged suicide attempt when arrested. He tried to cut the arteries in his wrists with broken glass from a pair of spectacles.

Hartnell said his first crime was committed eleven months ago when he and a companion robbed a Daley Chain store at Huntington Beach, of $600. He said on last November 19 he robbed a bank at Ninth and San Pedro streets, Los Angeles. He also told of an attempt to obtain a Standard Oil company's payroll in a mail robbery in California, but was unsuccessful.

When arrested at Kansas City, Hartnell was found in a room equipped like an arsenal. Shotguns, loaded and ready to shoot, hung on every wall, rested on chairs and bureaus. Revolvers were scattered about the room. Much small change obtained in bank robberies was scattered about in bags.

Hartnell said he helped hold up the Hollywood boulevard or Pacific Southwest Savings bank in Los Angeles June 21, in which he said he obtained $1,700. He said that his gang also held up a mail truck at El Segundo, Calif., in an effort to obtain the Standard Oil company's payroll. He said the robbers got one sack of mail but missed the payroll. Authorities said Hartnell also told of holding up the Moneta bank, Los Angeles, in which he was given $800 as his share. He failed to recall the dates and names of other holdups of banks and stores in California in which he said he participated. In Kansas City Hartnell and his gang robbed the Independence Avenue bank of $1,500, and many stores and filling stations there.

Bandit Egotistical.
Chief of Police Watson said Hartnell was extremely egotistical and that he obtained the confession of the man's exploits by praising his "job" and telling him how good he was.

"I sure got away fine," Hartnell said in explaining how he worked. "Before leaving California, I built an auto, taking a small body and putting the highest powered engine into it I could find. Police never would expect to see robbers driving a small car."

Early today police raided the farm home of Don L. Walters, arrested Walters and seized an auto such as Hartnell described. Driving it to Kansas City, it wouldn't go slower than forty miles an hour

Huntington Beach Boy Recovering From Hurt

Lee Childers, 14, of Huntington Beach, was showing marked improvement at the county hospital here today from injuries he received yesterday afternoon when he was struck by an automobile.

According to word received here, the boy was struck while walking on Frankfort street, Huntington Beach, by a car driven by S. A. Sandford of Moneta.

His injuries consisted of cuts about the face and shoulders.

Traffic Officer Ballard of that city rushed the lad to the hospital here.

Wife of Fire Truck Driver Hurt in Crash

Mrs. J. K. Sargeant, wife of the fire truck driver at Huntington Beach, was at her home today recovering from injuries she received when the automobile in which she was riding yesterday morning was in an accident with a car driven by A. A. Kennedy of Long Beach, it was learned here.

Mrs. Agnes Davis of Huntington Beach, who was with Mrs. Sargeant, also was hurt when the cars collided at the Talbert store.

Both were taken to the emergency hospital at the beach city for treatment.

Coast Guard Tries New Steering Device

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 3.—Following a trial run of the revenue cutter Haida outside the Golden Gate to test out the new electro-hydraulic steering device, officers of the Coast Guard expressed themselves as highly satisfied with the operation of the device. The apparatus has been in use on naval vessels but not on merchant or other ships. As soon as the Haida is overhauled it will be returned to its station at Seattle. The Majave, sister ship of the Haida, is due to arrive in Honolulu today from San Francisco. It spent the summer in the Berling sea.

Milk Goes Up 1 Cent A Quart in San Jose

SAN JOSE, Dec. 3.—An increase of 1 cent a quart in the price of milk went into effect December 1 in this vicinity.

The new prices are 13 cents a quart for pasteurized and 14 cents a quart for raw milk delivered. Over the counter at creameries the price was increased from 10 to 12 cents a quart, and in grocery stores, the new price is 13 cents instead of 12 cents. This increase according to the creameries, is made necessary because of an increase of from 6 to 7 cents a gallon in the wholesale price.

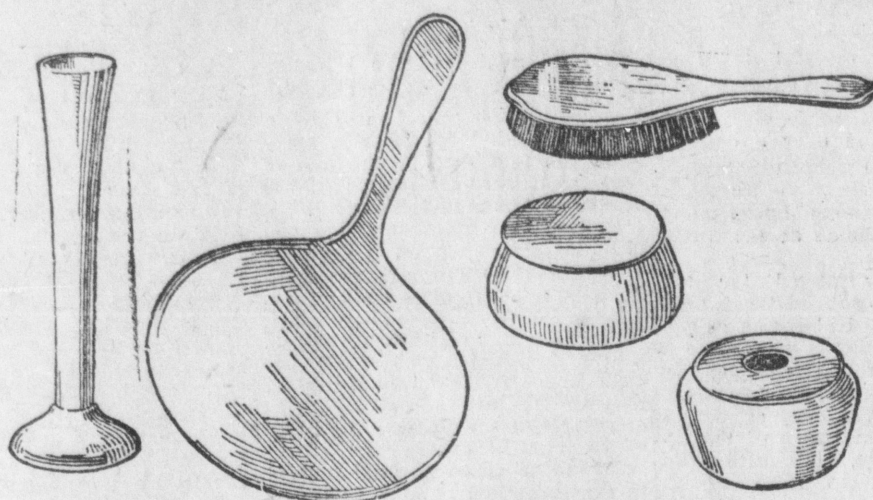

and made seventy hitting on three cylinders. Hartnell said he had three confederates and they drove overland from California to Kansas City, "pulling" various jobs on the way. Hartnell couldn't remember the name of one of his aides and police believe it may have been Walters. They found Walters' room barricaded. It contained many firearms.

Orange Council To Order Better Street

ORANGE, Dec. 3.—A program of oiling and graveling various city streets where such treatment is badly needed was instituted by the city council when Palmyra avenue and Palm street between the Santa Fe railroad and Batavia street were ordered improved.

The work on these streets will follow completion of oiling and graveling improvements now under way on La Veta avenue.

In seeking oil treatment for Palm street, it was pointed out that this thoroughfare is one of the most highly used macadam highways in the city, being located in the industrial district.

British Squadron To Visit San Francisco

LONDON, Dec. 3.—Six British warships were to steam from Devonport for a ten months' cruise of all the seas where the Union Jack flies. The cruise will embrace South Africa, Singapore, Sydney, Honolulu, San Francisco and Vancouver, which will be reached in June. The return trip will be made via Jamaica and Halifax. It is forty years since a British squadron encircled the globe, and then the ships traveled mostly under sail. The purpose of the cruise is to show the empire's might. The squadron will consist of two battleships and four light cruisers.

FRUIT GROWERS SCHEDULED TO OPEN ANNUAL MEET HERE

Many Notables Expected to Participate In Conclave To Open This Week

SESSION PLANS TOLD

Governor Richardson Will Do 'Bit' to Make 1923 Convention Success

Indicative of the keen and state-wide interest in the fifty-sixth annual fruit growers' convention, scheduled to open here this week, Manager G. A. Schweiger of St. Ann's Inn, announced here today that space at the Inn has been sold out and added that fully 250 dinner guests will be present when the annual fruit growers' banquet is held next Friday night. The growers' convention, preceded by a two days' session of the state horticultural association, will be in session until Saturday.

In addition to scores who have made reservations at St. Ann's Inn, it is understood that the Cooper hotel and other downtown hostelrys have made arrangements to accommodate several hundred out-of-town guests during the week.

This convention, according to G. H. Hecke, state director of agriculture, will be one of the most important events of the kind ever held in the west, as well as steamship and railroad officials from Chicago to Los Angeles.

Many Arrive Tuesday. Although the fruit growers' convention proper will not open until Thursday, scores of visitors, including commissioners from nearly every county in the state, will be in Santa Ana Tuesday for the opening of the state horticultural commissioners' convention.

"There are about fifty county commissioners," said A. A. Brock, Orange county horticultural commissioner, "and we have assurances that virtually all these will attend the sessions of the convention. Last year at Sacramento, where the annual fruit growers' convention was held, every county in the state was represented."

MEANING OF LETTERS USED TO FORM NAME OF PLAY IS BARED BY PLAYERS' CHIEF

'R. U. R.' Melodrama to Be Presented Here Unique In Many Respects

Considerable curiosity has been aroused among theater-goers of this city regarding the meaning of the letters "R. U. R.", which is the name of the play that the Santa Ana Community Players' association plans to produce at the Temple theater here the nights of December 10 to 13, inclusive, George Gerwing, assistant director of the organization, said today.

"R. U. R.," Gerwing explained, "stands for 'Rossum's Universal Robots.' 'Robots' is a word that the Czech-Slovakian dramatist, Karel Capek, coined to describe mechanical men that are manufactured, according to the play, to take the place of human beings."

"Rossum is the name of the inventor of the mechanical men. The plot of the play hinges on the idea that the mechanical men are finally manufactured in such quantities that they finally outnumber human beings and set out to exterminate mankind."

"For the benefit of those who may have the idea that 'R. U. R.' is a play of intellectualism, it is devoid of popular appeal, it is devoid of the kind of scenes, toward the end of the play, which are based on the Robots' herculean uprising, are as thrilling as those in any melodrama ever written."

"R. U. R." has a breadth of conception that is positively unparalleled in the history of modern drama. One of its most singular points of appeal is its tendency to make an audience wonder whether the author may not after all have been having a deal of fun at its expense, despite the seriousness of the theme involved."

Tickets for the play went on sale today at the Santa Ana Book store.

Motorists Step With Heavier Foot, Report

ANAHEIM, Dec. 3.—That motorists are quickly taking advantage of the unguarded condition of the highways since the motor police have been withdrawn, is the opinion of Jack Pickall, Anaheim's motorcycle policeman.

"On through highways," the officer reports, "motorists are now inclined to continue at 20 to 35 miles an hour, rather than slow down to 20 miles when they reach the city limits."

This condition exists particularly on North and South Los Angeles street.

50-PIECE BAND AIM OF LOCAL MUSICIANS

Estimate Group Could Be Fully Uniformed For Less Than $2500

Organization of a Santa Ana municipal band of fifty pieces, with the players uniformed in natty dress, is the ambition of a group of local musicians who now are rehearsing weekly at the Shafter Music store.

The musicians are being drilled by C. D. Cianfoni, declared Harry Hanson, business manager of the band, to be one of the most capable directors ever settling in Santa Ana.

Pointing out that twenty-five to thirty men are now rehearsing weekly, Hanson said efforts were being made to increase this number to fifty, with plans being developed for organization of a supporting fund to be contributed by the city council, the Chamber of Commerce and private individuals.

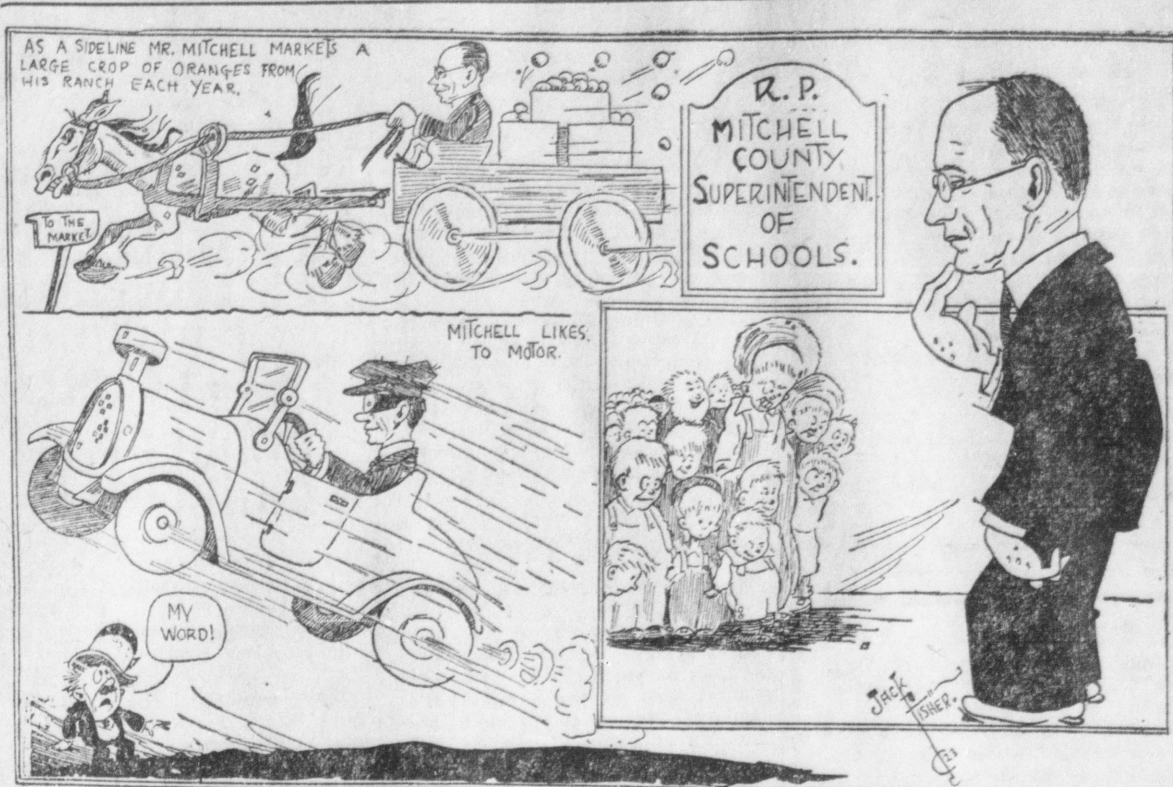

Tells Advertising Benefit. Definite plans for financing the organization have not been developed, Hanson said.

Expressing a belief that Santa Ana has attained a size that warrants maintenance of a high class municipal band, and pointing out further that such an organization would be a splendid advertising medium for the city, Hanson said that there are many men here with high accomplishment in the music line who would be available were the group to be identified as a municipal organization.

Whether the musical organization will be given the name of municipal band, depends, Hanson explained, on how the city supports the movement.

WOMEN'S ROOM AT ELKS NEAR COMPLETION

With carpenters rapidly completing the work of remodeling the basement of the Elks' club here indications today were that the women's quarters in the big Sycamore street hall will be ready for occupancy within the next month, according to W. W. Wasser, secretary of Santa Ana lodge No. 794, B. P. O. E. This work, recently ordered done by the trustees of the lodge, will cost several thousand dollars.

Inspection of the commodious room to be assigned women disclosed the fact that a beautiful hardwood floor has been installed, extensive enlargements have been made, the kitchen and restaurant space has been rearranged, and many other changes have been made in the basement.

When the painters and decorators have finished their work, Wasser said, elaborate furnishings will be installed and the basement made ready for a reception to be given in honor of the wives, sisters, mothers and other women relatives of Elks. The quarters will not be occupied, however, until after the annual high jinks party to be given by the local lodge Wednesday night, November 19.

On this occasion, Secretary Wasser said, several hundred Elks are scheduled to enjoy a turkey dinner in the basement and it was deemed best to delay furnishing the women's quarters until this Christmas banquet, has been served. As the regular meeting night of the lodge, Tuesday, December 25, falls on Christmas, the lodge will hold a short session Wednesday night, December 19, and then adjourn to the basement for the Christmas banquet. A high class entertainment has been arranged for this occasion.

It was believed the quarters for women will be thrown open early in the new year. A spacious dining room, for men and women, will be a part of the basement equipment. This will be available for Elks and the members of their families.

Convict Majority of Rum Suspects in Month

FULLERTON, Dec. 3.—Of thirty arrests made on bootlegging charges in November, twenty-five resulted in conviction, with fines amounting to $1750 imposed by Judge French of Fullerton.

In Anaheim during November there was one arrest for bootlegging, which should have brought the city $500; but as the offender could not raise the money he is now in the Orange county jail serving a 500 days' sentence.

Tells Baptists Science Really Aids Religion

LANSING, Mich., Dec. 3.—Despite Bryan's war on Darwinism, Michigan Baptists are not afraid of the theory of evolution or revelations of science, the Rev. D. J. Evans, pastor of the Flint Baptist church, Kansas City, told the Baptist Bible and Missionary conference here.

Dr. Evans said that the discoveries of science are wiping out old materialistic ideas and replacing them with proofs of the spirituality of matter.

Radio Supplies, Hawley's.

Sit down and hang on to your seats we're going to slip you some fast news about a native of Garden Grove.

For the benefit of those who don't know the history of the said metropolis let us say that our worthy subject is one R. P. Mitchell, Orange county superintendent of schools. Having arrived in Orange County at such a young and tender age Mitchell can tell a great many interesting stories concerning the development of this wonderful county. In those days, according to Mitchell, there was not a paved street or a street light in Santa Ana and anyone going to town at night had to carry lanterns to keep from being mired in. Imagine lighting a lantern to go shopping on Saturday evening. "How did you spend your leisure time?" we asked.

"Sleeping," replied Mitchell. "Our leisure time was generally bed-time and that's the way we made use of it. Owing to the fact that there was no place to go we did not go. There were no theaters or places of amusement as we were kept busy we always liked to hit the hay early."

Attended Normal School. Mitchell attended the Los Angeles State Normal school and made a favorable exit with a be-ribboned diploma in 1898. In that same year he began teaching young Santa Ana ideas how to shoot. For ten years Mitchell crammed knowledge into the heads of the little roughnecks, many of whom are now leading citizens of Santa Ana.

"It is very odd," mused Mitchell, "how calm and settled many of my most erratic pupils have become. Little Johnnie whom we all thought would be hanged is now a minister and delightful little Al-gernon has a lifetime home in Folsom."

In 1908 Mitchell became superintendent of Orange county schools and has held that office ever since. "My favorite recreation is motor-ing," Mitchell said, in reply to our questioning, "but I have never been before Justice Cox. 'I keep driving at a very moderate speed as it is much easier on the car and pocketbook. I like to start out in the morning knowing I'll come back the same way. I loathe the idea of having my remains picked from a motley assortment of excelsior, bolts and scrap iron, so I always adhere to the speed limits."

Times Have Changed. "Times have certainly changed in Orange county since I was a boy. There is some difference in driving to town on a gleaming boulevard and digging a pair of horses and a wagon out of an ocean of mud as we did in the past. In those days it was very hard to obtain money enough to pay taxes. All farm products were traded for other necessities at the stores."

Imagine trading a dozen eggs for a spool of thread or a flock of spuds for a pair of kicks. "I have seen Santa Ana grow from mud holes and shacks to one of the most beautiful cities in the Southwest," declared Mitchell.

So we got a cartoon of Mitchell and a history of the early days of the county all in one visit. Look him over folks. How many of you learned reading, writing and arithmetic under the able direction of Dick Mitchell?

Well, so long. We're going to make some wise "cracks" about some one else soon. Don't fail to be there early and get a front seat.

Fullerton Walnut Growers Get $200,000

Fullerton, Dec. 3.—Local walnut growers whose product has been handled through the Fullerton-Piacentia Walnut association will receive considerably more than $200,000 as their share of the current season's pool, according to Arthur Staley, secretary-manager of the organization. The checks will be mailed to growers early this week.

DRIVERS OBEY LAWS, THOUGH 'COPS' GONE

Despite the fact that there were no motorcycle officers patrolling Orange county highways over the week-end, there was virtually no speeding and very few accidents, according to observers who kept close watch on the main thoroughfares Saturday and Sunday, following removal of state traffic officers.

Aside from the fact that there were the usual number of "cuddly-bug" artists and "boulevard sheiks," commonly called "one-armed" drivers, on the highways, observers declared today that few glaring infractions of the state and county traffic regulations were reported.

Although the usual number of cars, speeding southward, headed through Santa Ana late Saturday and early Sunday bound for San Diego and Tia Juana, municipal traffic officers on duty in Anaheim, Fullerton and Santa Ana asserted there were few violations of the laws. This they attributed to the fact that the average motorist, eager to protect his own life and the lives of others, lived up to the tenets of the honor code and constituted himself a committee of one to keep the highways safe for all concerned.

Meanwhile, in the absence of the regular state patrol, District Attorney A. P. Nelson was said to be making every reasonable effort to find a way out of the dilemma confronting Orange county authorities.

"Until I have had time to investigate the matter thoroughly, I will be unable to issue a definite statement concerning the absence of the state patrol," said Nelson. "I desire to consult the highest authorities in Los Angeles and elsewhere before taking definite measures to protect our highways."

In Riverside county, however, it is understood the board of supervisors, unwilling to risk an experiment, refused to call off the motorcycle officers, as advised by the state motor vehicle department, and ordered the officers to remain on duty. The officers in that county, it was said, will be paid from county or private funds until the legal wrinkles have been ironed out.

Business District At Anaheim Is Expanding

ANAHEIM, Dec. 3.—Extension of Anaheim's business district to the north is seen in the announcement made yesterday that J. F. Fisher, prominent Anaheim realtor, will erect a store and office building on his property on North Los Angeles street, near the corner of Chartress avenue. Definite information about the cost and size of the building is expected to be given out later this week.

Several frame buildings now occupy the site of the proposed structure.

IMPORTANCE OF GETTING MORE INDUSTRIES TO BE TOLD AT DINNER

Chamber of Commerce Man Stresses Significance of Meet Here

L. A. MAN TO SPEAK

Expert Will Outline What City Can Do In Manufacturing Way

"Santa Anans cannot be too strongly impressed with the importance of the Industrial Dinner to be given at St Ann's Inn Thursday night by the Chamber of Commerce," J. C. Metzgar, secretary of that organization, said today.

"They cannot be made to realize too strongly the importance to this city of securing more industries."

"Every city depends, to a great extent, on the payrolls of the various industrial projects in the city," he continued. "The community that has a large, well-established industrial district is in every case a prosperous community and the people who are really interested in the future of the city in which they live are always seeking an opportunity to bring more industries within the limits of the city."

"The purpose of this dinner is a frank discussion of ways and means of attracting more large manufacturing plants to our district. We know that Santa Ana is an ideal location for almost any type of manufacturing plant. Many manufacturers realize this and are only waiting for an opportunity to establish plants here."

Section Held Ideal. "Some of them could be convinced that this section is ideal as an industrial section if a little time and thought were expended on an educational program to be conducted for the benefit of Eastern manufacturers."

"A. G. Arnoll, head of the industrial department of the Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce, has consented to be the principal speaker at this dinner. He has been making an industrial survey of the city for the past few weeks and will be prepared to tell guests at the dinner just what Santa Ana can and cannot do as a manufacturing center. His subject will be 'Can Santa Ana Attract Industries?'"

"We know that this city offers opportunities that are unexcelled in the promoter of industrial projects. Climate, ideal working conditions, ideal living conditions and excellent transportation facilities are all combined to make this an ideal industrial city in addition to being one of the most beautiful home cities in Southern California."

"Factory Town" Not Planned. "By securing more industries for Santa Ana no attempt will be made to turn the city into a factory town. The industries will be confined to one section as they are at present. The residential section will be affected in one way only—more residences will be made possible through the increased population attracted to the city by the industries that we hope to secure."

"Mr. Arnoll will explain just what steps this city and the people of the city will have to take in order to attract the most desirable industries. He will tell the preparation that will have to be made here to accommodate them. He will also tell us the things that cannot be expected in the development of the city as an industrial community. While explaining the heights to which the city builders of Santa Ana may aspire he will also explain the limitations of the city."

"Every man or woman interested in the future of this city is urged to attend this dinner and to make reservations at once. A limited number of guests can be accommodated."

BEACH BANDIT IS NABBED AT KANSAS CITY

An echo of a burglary at Huntington Beach last winter in which $600 was obtained, was heard here today, when dispatches told of how Grant Hartnell, in custody of police at Kansas City, Mo., confessed to robbing five banks, eleven stores and many oil filling stations within the past year. His holdups included four banks, three stores and two filling stations in California, authorities announced.

Hartnell, alias J. J. Padre, made his confession at the General hospital, Kansas City, where he was taken following an alleged suicide attempt when arrested. He tried to cut the arteries in his wrists with broken glass from a pair of spectacles.

Hartnell said his first crime was committed eleven months ago when he and a companion robbed a Daley Chain store at Huntington Beach, of $600. He said on last November 19 he robbed a bank at Ninth and San Francisco streets, Los Angeles. He also told of an attempt to obtain a Standard Oil company's payroll in a mail robbery in California, but was unsuccessful.

When arrested at Kansas City, Hartnell was found in a room equipped like an arsenal. Shotguns, loaded and ready to shoot, hung on every wall, rested on chairs and bureaus. Revolvers were scattered about the room. Much small change obtained in bank robberies was scattered about in bags.

Hartnell said he helped hold up the Hollywood boulevard or Pacific Southwest Savings bank in Los Angeles June 21, in which he said he obtained $1,790. He said that his gang also held up a mail train at El Segundo, Calif., in an effort to obtain the Standard Oil company's payroll. He said the robbers got one sack of mail but missed the payroll. Authorities said Hartnell also told of holding up the Moneta bank, Los Angeles, in which he was given $800 as his share. He failed to recall the dates and names of other holdups of banks and stores in California in which he said he participated. In Kansas City Hartnell and his gang robbed the Independence Avenue bank of $1,500, and many stores and filling stations there.

Bandit Egotistical. Chief of Police Watson said Hartnell was extremely egotistical and that he obtained the confession of the man's exploits by praising his "job" and telling him how good he was.

"I sure got away fine," Hartnell said in explaining how he worked. "Before leaving California, I built an auto, taking a small body and putting the highest powered engine into it I could find. Police never would expect to see robbers driving a small car."

Early today police raided the farm home of Don L. Walters, arrested Walters and seized an auto such as Hartnell described. Driving it to Kansas City, it wouldn't go slower than forty miles an hour

Huntington Beach Boy Recovering From Hurt

Lee Childers, 14, of Huntington Beach, was showing marked improvement at the county hospital here today from injuries he received yesterday afternoon when he was struck by an automobile. According to word received here, the boy was struck while walking on Frankfort street, Huntington Beach, by a car driven by S. A. Sanford of Moneta.

His injuries consisted of cuts about the face and shoulders. Traffic Officer Ballard of that city rushed the lad to the hospital here.

Wife of Fire Truck Driver Hurt in Crash

Mrs. J. K. Sargeant, wife of the fire truck driver at Huntington Beach, was at her home today recovering from injuries she received when the automobile in which she was riding yesterday morning was in an accident with a car driven by A. A. Kennedy of Long Beach, it was learned here.

Mrs. Agnes Davis of Huntington Beach, who was with Mrs. Sargeant, also was hurt when the cars collided at the Talbert street. Both were taken to the emergency hospital at the beach city for treatment.

Coast Guard Tries New Steering Device

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 3.—Following a trial run of the revenue cutter Haida outside the Golden Gate to test out the new electro-hydraulic steering device, officers of the Coast Guard expressed themselves as highly satisfied with the operation of the device. The apparatus has been in use on naval vessels but not on merchant or other ships. As soon as the Haida is overhauled it will be returned to its station at Seattle. The Majave, sister ship of the Haida, is due to arrive in Honolulu today from San Francisco. It spent the summer in the Bering sea.

Milk Goes Up 1 Cent A Quart in San Jose

SAN JOSE, Dec. 3.—An increase of 1 cent a quart in the price of milk went into effect December 1 in this vicinity.

The new prices are 13 cents a quart for pasteurized and 14 cents a quart for raw milk delivered. Over the counter at creameries the price was increased from 10 to 12 cents a quart, and in grocery stores, the new price is 13 cents instead of 12 cents. This increase according to the creameries, is made necessary because of an increase of from 6 to 7 cents a gallon in the wholesale price.

and made seventy hitting on three cylinders. Hartnell said he had three confederates and they drove overland from California to Kansas City, "pulling" various jobs on the way. Hartnell couldn't remember the name of one of his aides and police believe it may have been Walters. They found Walters' room barricaded. It contained many firearms.

Orange Council To Order Better Street

ORANGE, Dec. 3.—A program of oiling and graveling various city streets where such treatment is badly needed was instituted by the city council when Palmyra avenue and Palm street between the Santa Fe railroad and Batavia street were ordered improved. The work on these streets will follow completion of oiling and graveling improvements now under way on La Veta avenue. In seeking oil treatment for Palm street, it was pointed out that this thoroughfare is one of the most highly used macadam highways in the city, being located in the industrial district.

FRUIT GROWERS SCHEDULED TO OPEN ANNUAL MEET HERE

Many Notables Expected to Participate In Conclave To Open This Week

SESSION PLANS TOLD

Governor Richardson Will Do 'Bit' to Make 1923 Convention Success

Indicative of the keen and state-wide interest in the fifty-sixth annual fruit growers' convention, scheduled to open here this week, Manager G. A. Schweiger of St. Ann's Inn, announced here today that space at the Inn has been sold out and added that fully 250 dinner guests will be present when the annual fruit growers' banquet is held next Friday night. The growers' convention, preceded by a two days' session of the state horticultural association, will be in session until Saturday.

In addition to scores who have made reservations at St. Ann's Inn, it is understood that the Cooper hotel and other downtown hostelry have made arrangements to accommodate several hundred out-of-town guests during the week.

This convention, according to G. H. Hacke, state director of agriculture, will be one of the most important events of the kind ever held in the west, and will attract representatives from virtually every state in the west, as well as steamship and railroad officials from Chicago to Los Angeles.

Many Arrive Tuesday. Although the fruit growers' convention proper will not open until Thursday, scores of visitors, including commissioners from nearly every county in the state, will be in Santa Ana Tuesday for the opening of the state horticultural commissioners' convention.

"There are about fifty county commissioners," said A. A. Brock, Orange county horticultural commissioner, "and we have assurances that virtually all these will attend the sessions of the convention. Last year at Sacramento, where the annual fruit growers' convention was held, every county in the state was represented."

MEANING OF LETTERS USED TO FORM NAME OF PLAY IS BARED BY PLAYERS' CHIEF

'R. U. R.' Melodrama to Be Presented Here Unique In Many Respects

Considerable curiosity has been aroused among theater-goers of this city regarding the meaning of the letters "R. U. R.", which is the name of the play that the Santa Ana Community Players' association plans to produce at the Temple theater here the nights of December 10 to 13, inclusive, George Gerwing, assistant director of the organization, said today.

"R. U. R.," Gerwing explained, "stands for 'Rossum's Universal Robots.' 'Robots' is a word that the Czech-Slovakian dramatist, Karel Capek, coined to describe mechanical men that are manufactured, according to the play, to take the place of human beings."

"Rossum is the name of the inventor of the mechanical men. The plot of the play hinges on the idea that the mechanical men are finally manufactured in such quantities that they finally outnumber human beings and set out to exterminate mankind."

"For the benefit of those who may have the idea that 'R. U. R.' because of its intellectual, is devoid of popular appeal, it need only be said that the scenes, toward the end of the play, which are based on the Robots' herculean uprising, are as thrilling as those in any melodrama ever written."

"R. U. R." has a breadth of conception that is positively unparalleled in the history of modern drama. One of its most singular points of appeal is its tendency to make an audience wonder whether the author may not after all have been having a deal of fun at its expense, despite the seriousness of the theme involved."

Tickets for the play went on sale today at the Santa Ana Book store.

Britain Building Fastest Submarine

LONDON, Dec. 3.—The submarine X-1, which is nearing completion at a Chatham dock yard for the British navy, will be the longest as well as the fastest submarine in the world, according to the Morning Post. ## 50-PIECE BAND AIM OF LOCAL MUSICIANS

Estimate Group Could Be Fully Uniformed For Less Than $2500

Organization of a Santa Ana municipal band of fifty pieces, with the players uniformed in matty dress, is the ambition of a group of local musicians who now are rehearsing weekly at the Shafer Music store.

The musicians are being drilled by C. D. Cianfoni, declared Harry Hanson, business manager of the band to be one of the most capable directors ever settling in Santa Ana.

Pointing out that twenty-five to thirty men are now rehearsing weekly, Hanson said efforts were being made to increase this number to fifty, with plans being developed for organization of a supporting fund to be contributed by the city council, the Chamber of Commerce and private individuals.

Tells Advertising Benefit. Definite plans for financing the organization have not been developed, Hanson said.

Expressing a belief that Santa Ana has attained a size that warrants maintenance of a high class municipal band, and pointing out further that such an organization would be a splendid advertising medium for the city, Hanson said that there are many men here with high accomplishment in the music line who would be available were the group to be identified as a municipal organization.

Whether the musical organization will be given the name of municipal band, depends, Hanson explained, on how the city supports the movement.

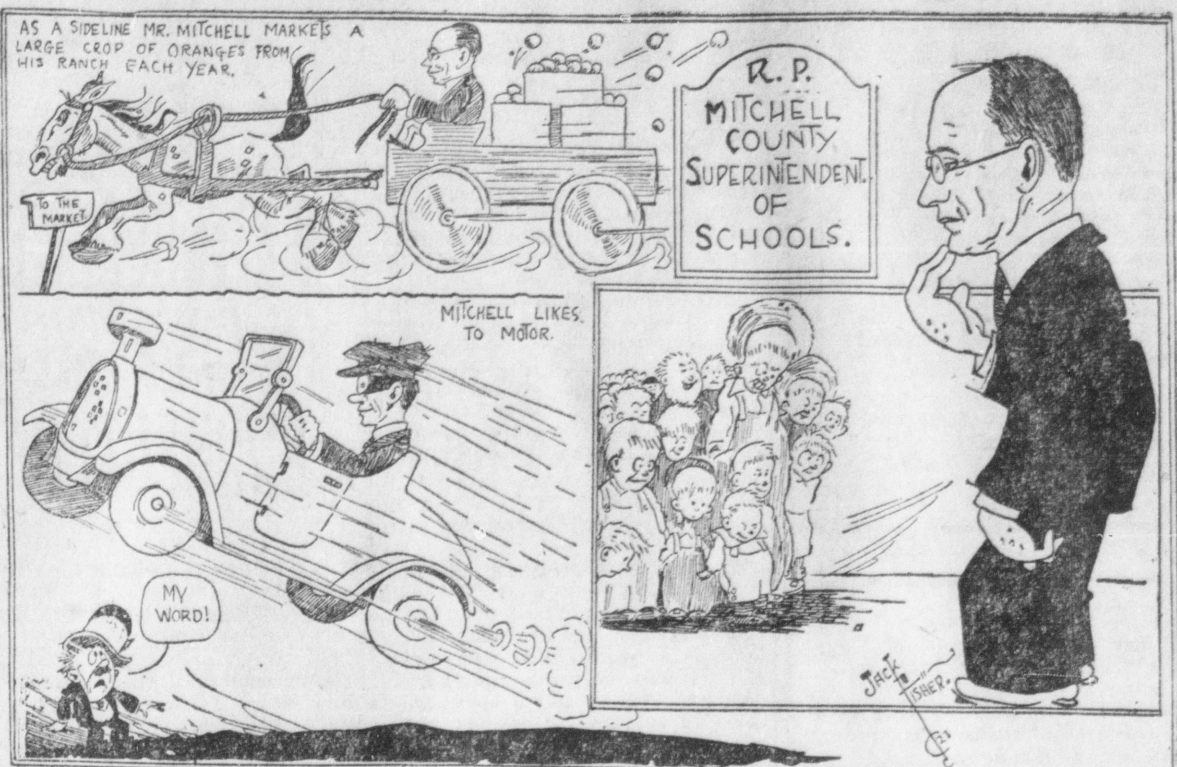

May March at Pasadena. Calling attention to the near approach of the Tournament of Roses at Pasadena, Hanson said that if the Chamber of Commerce would contribute to the band for uniforms the money that would be expended in developing a good float, the band would represent Santa Ana in the parade. He expressed the belief that the advertising resulting from the appearance in the parade would be superior and more lasting than that derived from a float.

Complete uniforming of a band of fifty pieces would cost between $1500 and $2000, Hanson estimated.

WOMEN'S ROOM AT ELKS NEAR COMPLETION

With carpenters rapidly completing the work of remodeling the basement of the Elks' club here indications today were that the women's quarters in the big Sycamore street hall will be ready for occupancy within the next month, according to W. W. Wasser, secretary of Santa Ana lodge No. 794, B. P. O. E. This work, recently ordered done by the trustees of the lodge, will cost several thousand dollars.

Inspection of the commodious room to be assigned women disclosed the fact that a beautiful hardwood floor has been installed, extensive enlargements have been made, the kitchen and restaurant space has been rearranged, and many other changes have been made in the basement.

When the painters and decorators have finished their work, Wasser said, elaborate furnishings will be installed and the basement made ready for a reception to be given in honor of the wives, sisters, mothers and other women relatives of Elks. The quarters will not be occupied, however, until after the annual high links party to be given by the local lodge Wednesday night, November 19.

On this occasion, Secretary Wasser said, several hundred Elks are scheduled to enjoy a turkey dinner in the basement and it was deemed best to delay furnishing the women's quarters until this, the Christmas banquet, has been served. As the regular meeting night of the lodge, Tuesday, December 25, falls on Christmas, the lodge will hold a short session Wednesday night, December 19, and then adjourn to the basement for the Christmas banquet. A high class entertainment has been arranged for this occasion.

It was believed the quarters for women will be thrown open early in the new year. A spacious dining room, for men and women, will be a part of the basement equipment. This will be available for Elks and the members of their families.

Convict Majority of Rum Suspects in Month

FULLERTON, Dec. 3.—Of thirty arrests made on bootlegging charges in November, twenty-five resulted in conviction, with fines amounting to $1750 imposed by Judge French of Fullerton.

In Anaheim during November there was one arrest for bootlegging, which should have brought the city $500; but as the offender could not raise the money he is now in the Orange county jail serving a 500 days' sentence.

Tomato Season About Over At Fullerton

FULLERTON, Dec. 3.—This week has practically completed the tomato season in Fullerton. One company has finished the shipping of green tomatoes, but will continue to ship pink and ripe tomatoes. Five cars of tomatoes were shipped during the week, three cars of lettuce, four cars of cauliflower and one mixed car of cauliflower and lettuce.

The Osborne company will begin shipping navels this week.

Tells Baptists Science Really Aids Religion

LANSING, Mich., Dec. 3.—Despite Bryan's war on Darwinism, Michigan Baptists are not afraid of the theory of evolution or revelations of science, the Rev. D. J. Evans, pastor of the Flint Baptist church, Kansas City, told the Baptist Bible and Missionary conference here.

Dr. Evans said that the discoveries of science are wiping out old materialistic ideas and replacing them with proofs of the spirituality of matter.

DRIVERS OBEY LAWS, THOUGH 'COPS' GONE

Despite the fact that there were no motorcycle officers patrolling Orange county highways over the week-end, there was virtually no speeding and very few accidents, according to observers who kept close watch on the main thoroughfares Saturday and Sunday, following removal of state traffic officers.

Aside from the fact that there were the usual number of "cuddie buggies," artists' and "boulevard sheiks," commonly called "one-armed" drivers, on the highways, observers declared today that few glaring infractions of the state and county traffic regulations were reported.

Although the usual number of cars, speeding southward, headed through Santa Ana late Saturday and early Sunday bound for San Diego and Tia Juana, municipal traffic officers on duty in Anaheim, Fullerton and Santa Ana asserted there were few violations of the laws. They attributed to the fact that the average motorist, eager to protect his own life and the lives of others, lived up to the tenets of the honor code and constituted himself a committee of one to keep the highways safe for all concerned.

Meanwhile, in the absence of the regular state patrol, District Attorney A. P. Nelson was said to be making every reasonable effort to find a way out of the dilemma confronting Orange county authorities.

"Until I have had time to investigate the matter thoroughly, I will be unable to issue a definite statement concerning the absence of the state patrol," said Nelson. "I desire to consult the highest authorities in Los Angeles and elsewhere before taking definite measures to protect our highways."

In Riverside county, however, it is understood the board of supervisors, unwilling to risk an experiment, refused to call off the motorcycle officers, as advised by the state motor vehicle department, and ordered the officers to remain in duty. The officers in that county, it was said, will be paid from county or private funds until the legal wrinkles have been ironed out.

Business District At Anaheim Is Expanding

ANAHEIM, Dec. 3.—Extension of Anaheim's business district to the north is seen in the announcement made yesterday that J. F. Fisher, prominent Anaheim realtor, will erect a store and office building on his property on North Los Angeles street, near the corner of Chartres avenue. Definite information about the cost and size of the building is expected to be given out later this week.

Several frame buildings now occupy the site of the proposed structure.

Fullerton Walnut Growers Get $200,000

FULLERTON, Dec. 3.—Local walnut growers whose product has been handled through the Fullerton-Placentia Walnut association, will receive considerably more than $200,000 for their share of the current season's pool, according to Arthur Staley, secretary-manager of the organization. The checks will be mailed to growers early this week.

"The crop in a general way has been much better this year than previous seasons," he commented. The percentage of culls has been considerably less, running about 7 per cent of the total tonnage. The total shipments to date have aggregated 515 tons."

IMPORTANCE OF GETTING MORE INDUSTRIES TO BE TOLD AT DINNER

Chamber of Commerce Man Stresses Significance of Meet Here

L. A. MAN TO SPEAK

Expert Will Outline What City Can Do In Manufacturing Way

"Santa Anans cannot be too strongly impressed with the importance of the Industrial Dinner to be given at St. Ann's Inn Thursday night by the Chamber of Commerce," J. C. Metzgar, secretary of that organization, said today. "They cannot be made to realize too strongly the importance to this city of securing more industries."

"Every city depends, to a great extent, on the payrolls of the various industrial projects in the city," he continued. "The community that has a large, well-established industrial district is in every case a prosperous community and the people who are really interested in the future of the city in which they live are always seeking an opportunity to bring more industries within the limits of the city."

"The purpose of this dinner is a frank discussion of ways and means of attracting more large manufacturing plants to our district. We know that Santa Ana is an ideal location for almost any type of manufacturing plant. Many manufacturers realize this and are only waiting for an opportunity to establish plants here."

Section Held Ideal. "Some of them could be convinced that this section is ideal as an industrial section if a little time and thought were expended on an educational program to be conducted for the benefit of Eastern manufacturers."

"A. G. Arnoll, head of the industrial department of the Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce, has consented to be the principal speaker at this dinner. He has been making an industrial survey of the city for the past few weeks and will be prepared to tell guests at the dinner just what Santa Ana can and cannot do as a manufacturing center. His subject will be 'Can Santa Ana Attract Industries?'"

"We know that this city offers opportunities that are unexcelled to the promoter of industrial projects. Climate, ideal working conditions, ideal living conditions and excellent transportation facilities are all combined to make this an ideal industrial city in addition to being one of the most beautiful home cities in Southern California."

"Factory Town" Not Planned. "By securing more industries for Santa Ana no attempt will be made to turn the city into a factory town. The industries will be confined to one section as they are at present. The residential section will be affected in one way only—more residences will be made possible through the increased population attracted to the city by the industries that we hope to secure."

"Mr. Arnoll will explain just what steps this city and the people of the city will have to take in order to attract the most desirable industries. He will tell the preparation that will have to be made here to accommodate them. He will also tell us the things that cannot be expected in the development of the city as an industrial community. While explaining the heights to which the city builders of Santa Ana may aspire he will also explain the limitations of the city."

"Every man or woman interested in the future of this city is urged to attend this dinner and to make reservations at once. A limited number of guests can be accommodated."

AUTOMOBILE OF 130,000-MILE FAME BURNS

F. B. Browning, of the Lemon Heights district, today mourned the loss of an old friend—a 1912 Cadillac that in his service had rolled off 130,000 miles. The machine was burned Friday, during a wind storm.

The fire, it was believed, originated from gasoline from a broken feed pipe dripping on the exhaust.

Felton Browning, a son, was driving the machine Friday, on the dirt road leading across the Irvine ranch from the Culver corner to the Aliso canyon road, when he suddenly discovered the car was afire.

He attempted to smother the flames with earth, but a steady stream of fuel pouring onto the burning section of the car coupled with a strong wind made this impossible.

F. Browning said today that the machine had been in his possession since the spring of 1912. It was his first Cadillac and he has been driving cars of this manufacture ever since, he said.

Three or four years ago the old machine was converted into a truck by installation of a truck bed and had been giving satisfactory service since. Browning said it was in good working order and would have been good for this service for several years more.

STEAL PHONOGRAPH, BEADS AND WATCH

With an accurate description of the machine driven by two young men who are believed to have committed the burglary, Dr. and Mrs. J. N. Bartholomew of Lemon Heights today continued search for the thieves, who entered their home a week ago and stole a phonograph, several strings of beads and a watch belonging to Mrs. Bartholomew.

A neighbor saw two young men pass his place with a phonograph in their car, but thought nothing of it at the time. When later he heard of the robbery, he recalled the incident and declared that he could recognize the machine were he to see it.

The Bartholomews also have a check on the tires on the machine three different makes being on the wheels, Mrs. Bartholomew said today.

The robbery occurred while Dr. and Mrs. Bartholomew were absent.

"The burglars evidently did not care for the kind of records I have for none was taken," said Mrs. Bartholomew.

She said that a string of coral beads taken was of considerable value, but that the other strings were of little value.

That the thieves were looking for valuables, was evidenced, Mrs. Bartholomew said, by the fact that bureau drawers were ransacked and clothing of Dr. Bartholomew was searched and thrown on the floor. The thieves found no money. No silverware was taken.

SEES SOUTH AS FINE SECTION FOR WRITERS

Southern California, according to Marah Ellis Ryan, distinguished western author who returned today to her Los Angeles home following a brief visit at the home of Mrs. Ella Campau, 801 French street, offers exceptional advantages to the writer eager to transmute into fiction the miracle of life and love.

"And that particular section of Southern California known as Orange county will always hold a very warm spot in my heart," she informed Mrs. Campau, "because of the associations of the years that are gone. I shall always love Orange county, for it is part and parcel of many of my stories."

While not posing as an author of "best sellers," Marah Ellis Ryan, according to Mrs. Campau, has turned out some highly interesting and widely read stories of the far west. Her books have had a big sale. San Juan Capistrano, quaint mission town which is the objective of virtually every artist and author bent upon securing colorful material, lured this author many years ago.

As a direct result of her pilgrimage to the brown hills and the crumbling mission, this writer, after a labor of love, produced a number of stories bearing the imprint of genius. Among these were "The Soul of Rafael," "The Plute of the Gods," "The Hour of the Dawn," and other novels. She lived in the ruins of the mission for two years, gathering material, and while in the little town made many friends, some of whom befriended her at a time when a hand was outstretched and a word of cheer went far toward brightening the dark hours of doubt and fear.

"Marah Ellis Ryan has never forgotten some of the dear, humble friends who walked beside her in those troubled years," said Mrs. Campau, "and it was only yesterday that she called the names of a number of these friends. She never fails to visit them, when the opportunity presents itself, and this always brings cheer, renewed joy and inspiration."

According to her Orange county friends, this author, in the past year, has succeeded in turning out a tremendous amount of work, including two stage plays, Indian love lyrics, motion picture scenarios and a number of articles. At least one of her recent plays, it is

Oakland Man Dies In Auto Accident

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 3.—Thrown through the windshield of the automobile in which he was riding, Frank Van Someren, 21, of 1305 Filbert street, Oakland, was killed in a crash at Twelfth and Webster streets, Oakland. Van Someren was riding in a machine driven by Lester Thompson, 1221 High street, Alameda, when it struck one driven by Manuel Gasper, 1538 Twentieth avenue, and Van Someren was thrown out onto the pavement, striking on his head. He was taken to the emergency hospital in the police ambulance, but was dead on admission. Thompson lost control and the machine was stopped by the police glass windows of the Western Auto Supply company Twelfth and Webster streets.

TOT'S DEFECTS IN SPEAKING CORRECTED

The correction of defective speech among the children of Santa Ana is the object of the private class started at the junior high school here recently by Miss Lois Thacker, formerly a teacher in the Lincoln school of this city. This class is a private enterprise operating one day a week, on Saturday, at Frances E. Willard junior high school building on North Main street, and has the endorsement of J. A. Cranston, superintendent of city schools.

In offering his endorsement of the class taught by Miss Thacker, Professor Cranston intimated that it was his desire some day to be able to make this class a part of the school system. Los Angeles has already taken this step and has organized a corrective speech department of the city school system. Miss Thacker is a teacher in this department.

The class in Santa Ana is at present composed of six students and embraces all classes of defective speech.

Miss Thacker in speaking of her method of correcting defects of speech among children said:

"It is impossible to tell my system of correcting these defects. Every case requires a distinctive method of correction. Of course there are a few general rules that are followed in this corrective work. Virtually all difficulties in speech are caused by nervousness or self-consciousness. If these are not the underlying causes of the defect they are the cause of the child's inability to correct his or her speech without help.

"A child that stammers is generally a very nervous child. In such a case the first thing to do is to build up the child's nervous system through health suggestions and corrective diet. Healthy diet, outdoor play, not too strenuous, and nerve and body tonics are as important in the correction of stammering as any other part of the course.

"Self confidence is another important item in the correction of speech defects. Under the system of speech correction followed by the teachers in the Los Angeles corrective speech department of the school system the child is taught self confidence. He is taught to have confidence in himself and to know that he can enunciate plainly.

"Simple Rules Followed
"Simple rules of enunciation are given the children and they are inspired with the feeling of confidence in themselves. They are taught to seek opportunities to use words that are difficult for them to pronounce rather than to avoid the use of them.

"Many of the children who have defects in speech are bashful and, through the use of words that are difficult for them to pronounce, try to avoid all chance of ridicule from other children. Teachers encourage them in this in many cases. The teachers are of the opinion that, by not calling on the child to recite in class, they are favoring the child by shielding it from embarrassment. In reality they are doing the child a wrong.

"If the child is given an opportunity, in many cases it will overcome the embarrassment attendant upon the pronunciation of difficult words. Under the system employed in correcting speech difficulties the child is taught to meet these words as they would physical enemies, overcome them and through each victory gain self confidence.

"Rhythm Sense Lacking
"Lack of rhythm is another cause of speech difficulty. Many children have no sense of rhythm in ordinary speech. When they sing or recite in unison they have no difficulty in enunciation. It is only when carrying on conversation that their speech defects are noticeable. These children are taught rhythm and its use in ordinary conversation.

"I hope someday to see the corrective speech department an established part of every school system in the state. It should be a part of the school mission. Through such departments untold benefits can be extended the children. Education is not the mere teaching of subjects outlined in school courses. I believe that education in the truest sense of the word means fitting a child to take its place in the world of men and women equipped in every way, mentally and physically, to secure every advantage to be had through knowledge and a child with speech impediments is not so equipped."

Hardison will discuss the relationship of the co-operative marketing associations and the farm bureau.

State Well Represented.

With Gov. F. W. Richardson, State Director Hecke, C. T. Teague, Carlyle Thorpe, railroad officials and a number of millionaire growers in attendance, indications are, according to Commissioner Brock, that the city council chamber and the high school auditorium, where the sessions of the convention are to be held, will be taxed to their capacity. Press representatives from a number of Northern and Southern California cities will "cover" the convention, Brock said, and a complete stenographic record will be compiled for future use in connection with tariff campaigns in Washington. A court reporter will be in constant attendance. The expense of preparing this voluminous report will be borne by city and county, assisted by the Chamber of Commerce.

The first session of the horticultural convention will open Tuesday at 2:30 p. m., in the city council chamber. The fruit growers' convention will open Thursday in the auditorium of the high school. The convention will be rounded out with a monster banquet at St. Ann's Inn Friday night. Saturday will be devoted to sightseeing tours.

COUNTY PIGEON FANCIERS WIN AT BIG SHOW

Capturing many firsts and specials and one championship, several Orange county fanciers exhibiting pigeons in the annual show at Arcadia of the Los Angeles Pigeon club today had demonstrated that their lofts contain some of the best pigeons in the Southland. The winnings were made in competition with the very best birds in Southern California. The show closed Saturday, following a run of a week.

C. P. Cunningham, who resides on First street, west of the river, took 111 firsts, 102 seconds and two-thirds on White Kings, Silver Kings and Dragons. It was said he had hot competition on Kings. He won the special for the best King Hen and the championship for Dragons.

A. C. Wiebe, 819 East Fifth, took seven firsts and one second for Parlor Tumblers, Blondettes and English Trumpeters.

V. A. Proctor, Tustin, took three firsts, one second and one third for flying homers and a special for the best flying Homer hen in the show.

Richard Robbins, son of Mr. and Mrs. Mac O. Robbins, 2063 North Main street, this city, won five firsts and two seconds on English Trumpeters.

Charles C. Clark, Fullerton, won three firsts, three seconds and two thirds on Homers and Yellow Carneau.

Hoskins Southern California Lofts, Fullerton, captured one first, two seconds and one third on Fantails.

WEEK-END DRY RAIDS CAUSE OF SCANDAL

(By United Press Leased Wire)
LOS ANGELES, Dec. 3.—Possible action against dry agents responsible for the most extensive series of raids ever staged on Southern California roadhouses was being discussed today by roadhouse proprietors, who declare the liquor clean-ups are ruining their business.

Down along Washington boulevard and in the other beach highway retreats business is getting rotten. Nightly raids are the order of things, and cafe owners, declaring they sell no booze and authorize none in their resorts, were seeking means today of having the rum hounds called off before the trade is entirely frightened away.

Unworried by any plans of the resort proprietors, liquor sleuths were planning more raids, following one of the most successful week-ends since prohibition enforcement became a righteous duty.

Swooping up a canyon above Sawtelle, officers late Saturday night raided the Miles of View hotel, broke up a number of little house parties, confiscated some liquor and arrested Thomas R. Lamb and E. A. Winstanley, prominent local business men.

Nearly a dozen scantily clad women leaped from windows and scurried into the sage brush, authorities said. Some were barefooted and barelegged, but braved the rocks and undergrowth to escape detection.

Proceeding this raid, the dry forces paid their customary visit to beach boulevard roadhouses, stopping for a time at the well-known Green Mill and Plantation cafes.

Changing the order of things a bit, the officers did not enter the resorts. Instead they searched machines as they were driven into the courtyards. Norman Taurus, motion picture director, had his $7,000 machine confiscated, temporarily at least, when a $5 pint of booze was found in the door pocket.

DEATH CALLS WOMAN POST OFFICE CLERK

Preparations were being made today for funeral services at the Winbiger Mission Funeral home at 2 p. m. tomorrow for Mrs. Verlin B. Harris, 49, who died at the Community hospital here yesterday, following an operation Saturday night.

Mrs. Harris had been employed in the Santa Ana postoffice for almost twenty years, having entered the service in 1904. She was a mail distributor and had charge of the postoffice directory. Patient and courteous, Mrs. Harris had endeared herself to hundreds of Santa Anans who had business at the general delivery window of the office.

Although not enjoying the best of health in the past few years, Mrs. Harris was on duty at the postoffice until Wednesday evening of last week.

With her father, the late Dr. McLeod, and family, Mrs. Harris came here from Santa Bernardino about twenty-two years ago. She is survived by her mother, Mrs. Elizabeth D. McLeod, 632 North Birch street; her sister, Mrs. Frank C. Townsley, of this city, and a brother, C. E. McLeod, of Los Angeles.

The Rev. Will A. Betts, pastor of the First Methodist church, will officiate at the funeral services. Interment will be in the Fairhaven mausoleum.

Stating that the casket will remain closed at the services, T. A. Winbiger, of the undertaking firm in charge, said that friends wishing to view the remains may do so by calling at the undertaking parlors between 10 a. m. and 1 p. m.

Woman Held Without Bail For Son's Death

SEATTLE, Dec. 3.—Mrs. Isaac Beneza was held without bail here today consequent upon the death of her son, Jacob, 3 years old, from scalds he received while according to the police, she and her husband were quarreling. Three shots were fired in the wrangle. The police related that the wife accused the husband of knocking a pail of boiling water over on the child while the husband declared that the wife had thrown the water at him as he was feeding his son. Isaac Beneza's neck and shoulders were found at the hospital to be badly scalded. The dispute was over money.

DEAD BROTHERS ARE HONORED BY ELKS

Marked by a keynote of simplicity all the more striking because of its unadorned pathos, the memorial services of the Santa Ana lodge No. 794, B. P. O. E., were held here last night at Elks' hall in the presence of one of the largest audiences ever assembled in this city for a similar service.

An impressive musical program by the Stearns-Taylor trio preceded the calling of the names of the absent brothers by Secretary W. W. Wassor. Members of the trio were Vere Stearns, violinist; Ethel Stearns, cellist, and Vera Taylor, pianist. Musical numbers included "Meditation," from Thais; "Humoresque," "Liebesgarten," "Swanee River," and "Nearer, My God, to Thee."

Exalted Ruler P. G. Beissel, in opening the "Lodge of sorrow," recited the well-known lines, "The faults of our brothers we write upon the sands; their virtues upon the tablets of love and memory." He then called upon other officers of the lodge, including Esteemed Leading Knight J. L. Rostetter, Esteemed Loyal Knight W. H. Gordon and Esteemed Lecturing Knight William McKay, to place upon the lodge altar the respective flowers emblematic of the virtues of the departed brothers.

Secretary Wassor then called the following names of Elks who have since memorial services held in the local lodge rooms last December: Logan Wells, Richard Egan, F. O. Daniel, J. H. Turner, J. F. Gard, Jacob Collins and William F. Scott.

Following the ritualistic service by the officers and members of the lodge, the principal address was delivered by Fred Furgy, a member of Santa Ana lodge No. 794. The eulogy and benediction were delivered by the Rev. W. H. L. Benton, chaplain of the local lodge. Furgy's address in part, was as follows:

"Upwards of a million Elks and their friends are meeting tonight in practically every city and town in the United States. They have not gathered together to seek amusement or entertainment, personal gain or enlightenment. They have not come to satisfy the religious instinct, nor out of a feeling of curiosity.

"For years the first Sunday in December has witnessed similar gatherings and it appears to me that so many people will gather in the dead of winter, year after year, only if there is something especially fine in the cause which brings them out.

"The lodge of sorrow meets to honor the departed brothers. It is a reverent gathering. Its services are essentially memorial.

"It has become almost instinctive for men to honor their dead. Impressive memorial services are annually held around a slab of white marble in Arlington, to honor the Unknown Soldier. The Lincoln Memorial receives a daily stream of visitors paying homage to the great Emancipator. The Washington graves on Mount Vernon are visited by thousands annually, and the crypts in Westminster Abbey are equally honored.

"It is true many visit these places out of curiosity, the tourists who return and tell Main street about the rest of the world, but there are many who return time and again because the shrine stirs a responsive chord in their make-up."

"They stand reverently in the presence of the dead, lifted by high thoughts and filled with good resolution, not because of the man at whose shrine they stand, but because of the principles which motivated that man.

"No one knows who the unknown soldier was, but we all know the ideals to which his life was dedicated. Lincoln, Washington, and the rest, have lived in our hearts and pilgrimages have been made to their graves, not because they were men, but because of their ideals in regard to the great body of society in general.

"The gatherings tonight are honoring the dead of the past year. While personal ties may bring a few, the greater number have come because of the thoughts which those men carried in their lives, the principles for which they stood as Elks."

"I shall not enter into any encomium upon the Elks. There are few individuals who do not believe in the principles which she teaches, but there are equally few who apply those principles in their social relations. Between these two extremes lies the great body of citizens who would like to be brotherly and forgiving; charitable and helpful—but they somehow forget so to be when opportunity arises.

"The unknown soldier died that these principles might be extended. They are summed up in what Sir Harry Lauder calls NEIGHBORLINESS—the extra loaf of bread when guests drop in—the smile when the bull pup plays football among the radishes and turnips—the hours of watching when sick-ness strikes home—the spirit that makes the world a better place to live in; that's neighborliness, that's democracy, that's the Elks' creed."

"Other words have been used to describe it. We Americans like to talk of it as Americanism."

"It is not so much what we call it, but how we apply it that counts and it appears to me that the best way in which we can honor the departed brothers is to make ourselves living monuments of the principles to which our fraternity is dedicated. It is for us, the living, to incorporate those principles in our daily lives."

"We despise the intolerance of the hypocritical reformer but how far do we tolerate the religious and social beliefs of a sect which holds different beliefs than our own?"

"We criticize our neighbor for being unjust and hard-hearted, but are we any quicker to forgive when it is we who have been wronged?"

"Charity means a sharing with the needy. Too many of us feel that when we have donated to a drive we can look up charity till the next drive. But the charity taught by Elksdom means charity of deed and word, as well as of the purse."

"Our ritual breathes tolerance and as an order, we are tolerant. But the fraternity is no stronger than the individuals who compose it and as individuals we are little better than those whom we condemn. We criticize without investigating the facts."

"Forgiveness is Tolerance, plus. We can sometimes tolerate the other fellow's views but when in applying his ideas he injures us we find it difficult to forgive."

"Fraternity spirit has developed because with the progress of man these principles have developed. Through fraternity these better elements find opportunity for expression."

"As Elks we stand for the principle of neighborliness. Our order is founded upon it but as citizens we often fail to apply it. It is well that we should write the virtues of our brothers on tablets of love and memory, but it is equally important that we should go forth with a high resolve to apply in every-day life the tenets of our order, so that the first Sunday in December will forever live as a day commemorating our neighborliness and the neighborliness of Elksdom."

"By so doing our fraternity will prosper and the world will be a better place in which we ourselves can look back upon life with a realization that in being good Elks we were good citizens and worthy of membership in the most phenomenal social order that the world has ever known."

Hold Ex-Mayor's Son As Auto Crash Fatal

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 3.—Edward Dewitt Taylor, son of the late Mayor Robinson W. Taylor of San Francisco, was held on a charge of manslaughter by police today as a result of the death of Dorothy Dean Ingham, aged three years. The child was killed yesterday when struck by an automobile alleged to have been driven by Taylor.

POLITICAL ROW LOOMING OVER MOVIE DANCE

(United Press Staff Correspondent)
LOS ANGELES, Dec. 3.—Inferring that some of the municipal governors of Los Angeles are provincial and are running the city on a "small town" basis, Fred Niblo, leader of the movie directors, irate because of the forcible midnight closing of their annual ball, today was organizing a new political force.

Niblo declared that an organized attempt would be made to oust the police commission, blamed by the motion picture men for the shutting down of their dance at the Biltmore Hotel Wednesday.

A giant mass meeting of the movie folk was considered for a while, but later it was decided to appoint a committee representing the motion picture industry to confer with business men's organizations. The idea is to organize politically against a "busy and ubiquitous minority."

Police Commissioners Birnbaum and Montgomery, the latter a preacher, were roundly scored for their action in prohibiting dancing after midnight. It was charged by Niblo that the Shriners on the same night were allowed to make merry after 2 o'clock because Mayor Cryer was a prominent Shriner. This was denied by the manager of the Ambassador hotel, where the Shriners held their party.

Pasadena came forward with an invitation to the movie people to hold their dance outside of Los Angeles. "But why," asked Niblo, "should we have to go there, to San Francisco or any other place outside this city for a breath of American air or freedom?"

This forcible dance closing business, since it involves the problem of amusement liberty threatens to start another police commission war. Montgomery and Birnbaum have just entered their duties after Commissioners De Coo and De La Monte were ousted. Both new commissioners are known as "non-liberals."

Mayor Cryer aroused further ire among the motion picture directors when he issued a statement placing the blame for the whole affair on Chief of Police Vollmer. The movie men announced immediately that they exonerated Chief Vollmer from all odium. In fact, they openly said, they were for Vollmer, but decidedly again the police commission.

Charges Discrimination
"The law, of course, was on the books," said Niblo, "and we would make no complaint if it had been enforced heretofore. But we danced at the Biltmore opening until 3 o'clock and as late as the movie balls in other years. We believe this ordinance was invoked, deliberately to discriminate against the industry in which we are engaged because the police commission saw fit to do it. The presence of Commissioner Birnbaum at the ball is proof of that.

"A condition like that can be remedied only by political action and we propose to take it if we can get the other decent people of this community to stand with us. We want Los Angeles to have the reputation of a law-abiding community, not of an aggregation of long hairs."

Seismograph in Miniature Used

WASHINGTON, Dec. 3.—A miniature seismograph, weighing less than a portable typewriter, with which scientists hope to chart the seismic movement of the earth with a completeness that will permit a tremendous advance toward accurate location of the locality of major earthquakes, has been put in use by the Carnegie Institute of Washington.

The instrument, just perfected by Dr. J. Anderson of the Mt. Wilson observatory in California, was exhibited by Dr. Arthur I. Day, chairman of the Institute's advisory committee in seismology, during an address here today in which he described its functioning and the purposes for which it will be used. Although dwarfed by the 500 to 1000-pound bulk of the instruments now in use the "pocket" seismograph, Dr. Day said, records earth tremors of so slight intensity as to be entirely undetected by the former.

ORANGE TO OBSERVE BIG CHAMBER MEET

ORANGE, Dec. 3.—Taking over a theater here, the annual chamber of commerce meeting tonight will be in the nature of a theater party, with business to be transacted in the movie emporium subsequent to the showing of a feature film. This is scheduled to be a novel annual meeting, as the banquet usually in order has been dispensed with.

At the meeting tonight it will be announced that present officers of the Orange Community chamber have been re-elected. The re-naming was made at a luncheon of directors held Friday. They are: N. T. Edwards, president; L. F. Coburn, vice president; L. O. Whitsett, second vice president; F. L. Ainsworth, treasurer; V. D. Johnson, secretary.

Preceding the organization meeting, the directors, six of which are new, were elected as follows: M. Eltiste, S. V. Mansur, Fred Grote, John Adams, A. W. Swayze, S. B. Edwards, F. L. Ainsworth, N. T. Edwards, Leon Whitsett, Willard Smith, L. F. Coburn and W. G. Hagen. Three additional directors, making a total of fifteen, are still to be named.

STABS SON TO DEATH.

A MATING IN THE WILDS

BY OTT WELL BINNS

ILLUSTRATED BY
ALFRED A. KNOPP, INC. CHES N B A SERVICE, INC.

BEGIN HERE TODAY

Hubert Stane serves a term in prison for forgery. He goes to the rescue of Helen Yardley when her canoe drifts into dangerous waters. Together they start to walk the trail to the camp of Helen's uncle, a governor of the Hudson Bay Company.

They flee on a raft from a forest fire and settle in a deserted cabin. Indians attack the cabin. Helen is abducted and Stane is seemingly dead. Benard, a trapper, finds Stane and revives him. Together they go to trail Helen's abductors. Gerald Ainley, in love with Helen, shoots her captors and rescues the girl.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

"You start up now, mees," she said, and the man stretched a quick hand to stand her.

"Vait min'tet," he said, "zee seeckness et veel pass."

It passed quicker than the man knew, and as the man had moved, bringing his face to the light, Helen used the opportunity to survey the man behind the mittened hand which she saw to her head. He was, she saw, a half-breed of evil, black-marked countenance, with cruel eyes. Who he was she had not the slightest notion, but curiosity was strong within her, and as she lowered her hand, she waited for him to speak again.

"Ve vait here, leetle taimé—une hour, deux, maybe tree. Zee dogs dey tire. But you veel not run away. Dat valre foot ting to do. Zee wood ees so vast, an' zee volves ees plenty. You come to zee fire an' eat."

He moved towards the fire, as if certain that she would follow, and after one glance into the deep shadows of the forest, she did so. She seated herself on a log which had been placed for her convenience, accepted some fried moose-meat and unsweetened tea, whilst the other two men by the fire, both Indians, smoked stolidly, without bestowing upon her a single glance whilst she ate. When she had finished she pushed the tin plate from her, and looked at the half-breed, who had seated himself a yard or so away from her.

"Who are you?" she asked.

"Ah not tell you dat!" said the man with a grin.

"Then tell me what are you going to do with me?"

"You fin' dat out for yourself in a vait leetle taimé," was the answer.

Helen looked at the evil, cunning face, and knew that it was no use pursuing inquiries in that direction. She waited a full minute, then she began to ask another question, to her of even vaster moment:

"That man who was with me in the cabin, he—"

"Sacree!" cried the half-breed in a sudden burst of fury. "Dat man he ees dead, Par Dieu! an' eef he was not, I roast heem alive!"

"Dead!" As the exclamation broke from her, the girl looked at the half-breed with eyes in which gleamed a sudden fear. Then hope came to her as she remembered the shots that she had heard.

"But," she protested, "he was firing on you as you left. It cannot be that he—"

"Non!" broke in the half-breed. "Dat man was with you he fire onkee once, den he die. Dose shots dey come from zee wood, an' I not know who fire dem. Beet was strange, I not know eef there be one man or more, so I run away wit' you."

Great sobs shook her shoulders, and scalding tears welled in her eyes. Her lover had indeed gone to his death after all, had given his life for hers as at the very beginning of their acquaintance he had risked it to the same end by saving her!

The callous half-breed was disturbed by the utter abandon of her grief.

"No need to weep lik' zee rain in spring, mees! What ees one man when men are as zee leaves of zee forest? Dis man dead! True—but eet ees a small ting—zee death of a man. An' I tak' you to anoder man—"

"You will what?" Helen looked up sharply as she asked the question. There was a light of wrath struggling with the grief in her eyes and the half-breed was startled by it.

"I tak' you to anoder man who weel lov' you as white squaws desire. He—"

"Who is this man?" she asked suddenly interrupting him.

But the half-breed developed a sudden wariness.

"Non!" he said. "I not tell you dat, for why, zee surprise it veel be more pleasant."

"This man whom you promise me? He pays you to bring me to him?"

"Oui!" He pays a great price!" Time passed and she still marched to and fro. The half-breed was nodding over the fire, and his two companions were sound asleep. Under her fur parka she felt the butt of the pistol which Stane had given her, when the attack on the cabin had commenced. She looked at the three men, and with her hand on the pistol-butt the thought came to her mind that it would be a simple thing to kill them in their sleep, and to take the dogs and so effect her escape. They were murderers; they deserved to die; and she felt that she could kill them without any compunction. But her eyes swept the dark circle of trees, and for a moment she stared into the darkness with fixed gaze, then her hand slipped from the pistol, and she put from her the thought that had come to her.

When the half-breed rose, and ordered her to resume her place on the sledge, she did so without demur, making herself as comfortable as possible. She was bound a minute and a half later he staggered back, dragging a man with him. He dropped the man by the fire, poured some coffee into a pannikin, and as the new-comer, with a groan, half-raised himself to look round, he held the coffee towards him.

"Here, drink this, it'll do you—" he interrupted himself sharply, then in a tone of exultation he cried: "Chigmok!"

"Oui!" answered the man. "I am Chigmok. And thou?"

"I am the man of the Law," answered Anderton, "who has been at your heels for weeks."

"So!" answered the half-breed in native speech, with a hopeless gesture. "It had been better to have died the snow-death, but I shall die before they hang me, for I am hurt."

They washed and dressed the wound, made the half-breed as comfortable as they could; then as he reposed by the fire, Anderton found the man's pipe, filled it, held a burning stick whilst he lit it, and when it was drawing nicely spoke:

"Now, Chigmok, you owe me something for all this, you know. Just tell us the meaning of the game you were playing."

"Then I tell you." His dark eyes turned to Stane. "You not know me?"

"No," answered Stane. "I never saw you in my life before."

"But I haf seen you. Oui! I steal your canoe when you sleep!"

"You know who was in the tent?" asked Stane sharply.

"I fin' dat out zee ver' next morning when I meet a man who ask for zee white girl. Ah I haf seen dat man b'fore. I see him shoot the paddle from zee girl's hand."

"Who was this man?" asked Stane grimly, as the half-breed paused.

"I not know; but he is zee ver' same man dat was to haf paid zee price of guns an' blankets for zee girl dat vos in zee cabin."

"And who said I was to die?"

"Oui! He order dat! He fix for me bring zee girl here, where zee price veel be paid; den when I come he begin to shoot, becous he veel not zee price pay."

"What sort of a man was he? What did he look like, Chigmok?"

"He dark an' what you call han'-some. He haf sometimes one glass to hees eye, an—"

"Ainley, by Heaven!" cried Stane in extreme amazement.

"Lor, what a whirlingig is, I never thought—Hallo! Who's this? Jean Benard, or I'm a sinner!"

Jean Benard it was, and his face lighted with pleasure as he staggered into the camp.

"I fear for you, m'sieu," he said to Stane in simple explanation. "Therefore I come. Bo'jour, m'sieu Anderton, dis ees a good meeting on zee bad day!"

CHAPTER XXII
Ainley's Story

As Helen Yardley caught sight of Ainley's face, for a moment she was dumb with amazement, then she cried: "You? You?"

"Yes," he answered quickly. "I have been seeking you for weeks, and I find you in the nick of time. But there is no time to explain now. There were others with your captors; I saw the sledge following behind. We must get away at once."

As he spoke he cut the thong which bound her to the sledge and helped her to rise.

"Get on the sledge, Helen," said Ainley, brusquely. "There is no time to waste. We must hurry."

T. turned from the storm-ridden lake to the shelter of the great woods. Except for forced halts to unravel the harness when it caught in the bushes, they did not wait for two hours, but pressed on until they reached an open space in the woods, which they crossed in a smother of blinding snow. On the other side of this break they came to a fresh spur of forest, and when they had penetrated to the shelter of the trees once more, the first voluntary halt was made.

"Of whom are you afraid?" asked Helen.

"Indians! We were forced to shoot three of your captors; and those of their friends who were following on behind may feel impelled to try and avenge their deaths."

"Oh!" said the girl; a note of such evident disappointment in her tone, that Ainley looked at her quickly.

"I have an idea," he said, "and I will explain when we camp. Just now I must have a word with my men. Coffee will be ready in a few minutes; and there will be bacon and biscuit, which if not exactly appetizing will be sustaining."

"I shall not mind bacon and biscuit," answered Helen, and as Ainley walked away a look of deep thought came on the girl's face.

CHILD'S PLUCK FOILS PAIR OF THIEVES

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 3.—The garrison at the Presidio was talking nervously one night about the penny-pitching of Congress and the bravery of Colonel Louis H. Bash's daughter and wondering what might happen next.

Unmasked burglars invaded Officers' Row in the early evening and but for the pluck of Virginia, 11-year-old daughter of Colonel Louis H. Bash their raid might have been tragic instead of only alarming.

Electric lights are at such a premium that there is but one small one—to protect the long row where the garrison officers and their families live.

The post is so depleted of soldiers that sentries cannot be spared to properly patrol the grounds. Housebreakers have been unheard of in a decade at the Presidio, except for that night's adventure.

Colonel and Mrs. Bash were walking slowly back to their quarters, No. 4 in Officers' Row, after dining, when Virginia trotted ahead of them and entered the house first. It was about 10 o'clock.

As she went on the porch of her home the little girl saw the door was open. She entered the hall to investigate and fumbled in the dark until she found the electric switch and snapped it on.

Child Seized by Two. Two men were lying in wait for her. As soon as she switched on the lights they seized her, clapped their hands over her mouth to smother her frightened screams and immediately flashed the lights off.

The ruffians then calmly discussed whether they should gag the girl and imprison her in a closet. They finally released her mouth and demanded if there was anyone with her.

"No, there is not," Virginia replied coolly, "but you'd better be out of here before my daddy comes, and he's right behind me."

While one man then held the girl on a chair, with one hand over her mouth, the other hurriedly grasped two army guns conveniently at hand and $4 in change on a nearby stand.

Menace Child. They then menaced the child, threatening her if she moved or screamed, and fled out of the front door. Virginia immediately ran out after them and saw her father coming up the walk. Unshaken by her experience, she told Colonel Bash about it, and described her assailants to the last detail. They were young civilians, she said. Colonel Bash gave their descriptions to the police.

Colonel Bash is head of the organized reserves for this district. He has been an officer at the Presidio off and on for the last ten years.

Mrs. Bash, whom he married in San Francisco in 1903 after a romantic meeting, is a well known authoress, "The Helmet of Navarre" and a later volume, "The Truth About Tolina," being her best known works. Her pen name is Bertha Runkle.

Hold Funeral For Fullerton Woman

FULLERTON, Dec. 3.—Funeral services were held at 3 o'clock Saturday afternoon for Mrs. Katherine S. Nicholson, 82, who died early Friday at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Jay C. Jenks, 327 North Drake avenue after a week's illness.

She was a direct descendant of the pioneer Nicholson family of Joliet, Ill., and was at one time a teacher in the public schools of San Jose, Calif. Funeral services were conducted by Rev. Clarkson of the Episcopal church, and the body will be shipped to Joliet for interment.

FACES MURDER CHARGE. LOS ANGELES, Dec. 3.—Charges of murder were being prepared today against Fernando Casada, Italian, who is alleged to have shot down Patrolman Oscar Longfellow, of the San Fernando station last week. Longfellow died yesterday.

WALL ST. JOURNAL FINANCIAL REVIEW

NEW YORK, Dec. 3.—Wall Street's confidence regarding the constructive character of the program to be outlined at the new congress found expression in a striking demonstration of strength throughout the whole stock market the return of the week, which body to Washington, including Baldwin, Struble, and Steel, the main body of stocks displayed great activity at the best levels reached on the present upward movement.

After this initial exhibition of buoyancy prices began to take into consideration the thought that in addition to President Coolidge, the action of men of the calibre of La Follette, Shoup, Capper, Brookhart, and Magnus Johnson had to be reckoned with.

This fact exercised a sobering influence and stocks showed a reaction during the remainder of the week, apparently awaiting the outcome of congressional organization this week.

The market closed lower.

BILLY GIBSON MAY HANDLE LUIS FIRPO

Manager of Benny Leonard to Pilot Argentine For Next Dempsey Bout

BY HENRY L. FARRELL
 (United Press Staff Correspondent)
 NEW YORK, Dec. 3.—Luis Angel Firpo, South American heavyweight champion, will be handled during his 1924 campaign by Billy Gibson, manager of Benny Leonard, the lightweight champion, and Gene Tunney, the American light-heavyweight champion, according to information from a good authority.

Last summer Firpo had several conferences with Leonard and it was understood he told the lightweight champion he would not object to having a few lessons from him on boxing.

Leonard, it is understood, said that he would be willing to do what he could for Firpo, but he suggested that his trainer, Mennie Seamon, would be more valuable as a tutor.

Arrangements, it is learned, have been virtually completed whereby Firpo will join the Gibson stable and that Leonard and Seamon will work with the big Argentine to prepare him for his return bout with Jack Dempsey. While he has not admitted it, Tex Rickard is working to get a match between Firpo and Harry Wills, the colored heavyweight. The match may not be made, however.

Wills wants to fight Dempsey first and he is entitled to first chance at the title over Firpo and Tommy Gibbons. Wills claimed that Firpo turned down a match with him last summer by suggesting that the fight be staged in South America.

Fight Results

PITTSBURGH—Harry Greb, middleweight champion, risks his title tonight when he meets Bryan Downey of Columbus in a ten round decision bout at Motor Square Garden. Greb has been matched to meet Johnny Wilson of Boston in Madison Square Garden January 18, "Red" Mason, Greb's manager, announced here today. Greb's share will be about $30,000.

PHILADELPHIA — Frankie Genaro, American flyweight champion, and Migdet Smith, New York bantamweight, arrived here today for their ten round decision match tomorrow night at the Adelphi arena.

PHILADELPHIA—Pancho Villa, world's flyweight champion will defend his crown in a ten round bout here December 10 against Fatsy Wallace.

NEW P. C. L. PREXY WILL IGNORE FOES

Harry Williams Leaves For Annual Meeting of Minor
Leagues at Chicago

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 3.—Harry Williams, popular president of the Pacific Coast League—president, that is, nominally, at least—is on his way to Chicago today to attend the annual minor league meeting. Williams in his first important statement since his election at the rump meeting at Catalina, declared he would ignore the attacks made on him by William McCarthy's "little three" faction.

Coming as it does from the man who is to battle against McCarthy's attempt at the Chicago meeting to keep office, Williams' statement sheds a new light upon the coast fight that has attracted national attention.

Referring to the revolutionary war days, Williams declared the vital issue in the present imbroglio is "taxation and representation." "There can be no taxation without representation, not in this country at least," Williams asserted. "That principle was established in America at great sacrifice and it is a principle which must ultimately prevail in baseball as well as government."

McCarthy's attitude is without parallel in baseball, or business, Williams said. "He even seeks to control the 17,000 league fund, five-eighths of which was contributed by the five club owners who voted him out. Not a dime of that money belongs to him, yet he seeks to retain it."

Famous Speed Race Team Disbands For Interest of Sport

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 3.—The "Cliff" Durant racing team is no more, it was learned today.

After either winning or finishing well up in all of the important races of the past two years, the team, which is composed of Jimmie Murphy, Harry Hartz, Eddie Hearne, Fred Comer, Ira Vail and Durant himself, will disband and race as individuals.

This decision was reached by Durant, who said that he believed that, by allowing the racers to own their own cars and race them accordingly, competition would be keener and more interest in the sport taken by the patrons.

BASKETBALL TEAMS BEGIN ACTION SOON

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 3.—As surely as the old order changeth, football is waning and basketball today is the main topic in the Southern California collegiate sport world.

This year the University of Southern California expects to have a big season under the direction of Los Turner because there are no post-season football games to keep the gridiron athletes from turning out for early practice on the court.

Pomona, Occidental, Whittier and the University of California, Southern branch, squads are being prepared for a tough season, and at most schools the initial practice has been held.

Basketball is becoming increasingly popular with the public and deservedly so. Lacking, perhaps, the generally spectacular quality of football, it can furnish as exciting contest as is possible in any branch of sports when two evenly matched teams are participating. No sport is more grueling than a half hour of speedy action on a small basketball court.

Jimmy O'Donnell to Box Pepper Martin

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 3.—Jimmy O'Donnell, St. Paul lightweight, has been chosen to face Vincent ("Pepper") Martin, in the main bout at Doyle's Vernon arena tomorrow night.

O'Donnell holds a decision over Phil Salvatore, local favorite, and Martin is about the biggest drawing card that Doyle can find.

Bud Soules, well known local welter, will square off with Ritchie Davis in the semi-final.

BEANPICKERS NOSED OUT BY AUTO TEAM

Irvine Gets Away to Three
Run Lead But Hinrichs
Hit Hard By Buicks

Arthur Trickey's Irvine Beanpickers got away to a flying start against the Buick Autos at the bean village yesterday afternoon, but they couldn't keep up the pace and lost eventually to "Dad" Thielman's Los Angeles outfit, 7 to 5.

The Beanpickers scored three runs in the first stanza without making a single blow. Two walks, two fielders' choices, a double steal and a sacrifice were responsible for the trio of tallies. After that, Keough, Buick pitcher, who was with the Los Angeles club of the Pacific Coast league for a time last spring, settled down and hurled splendid ball.

"Dutch" Hinrichs didn't have much yesterday and the visitors slammed him for fifteen bingles. The Los Angeles White Sox, a team composed of crack colored players, came to Irvine next Sunday. The box score:

SPORTS of all SORTS

Defeated professional lathletes who have been dropped on foreign fields usually reserve their best alibis until they get back to the home folks. These reasons for not winning are usually weird and sometimes far away from the truth, especially in cases where the alibi expounder is not in much danger of a comeback.

Sport writers who have listened to all the plaintive wails of the vanquished remarked, after the Dempsey-Firpo fight: "Wall until Firpo gets home and we'll hear plenty about it."

Far away from an argument and so far removed from the scene of battle that in his unthinking way he must have felt that his words would not get back. Firpo gave his native South American brethren some strange excuses for losing to Jack Dempsey when he returned home recently.

Knowing Firpo well, it is hard to believe that he would descend to excuse himself by abusing facts, because, in the first place, he did not have to excuse himself.

If Firpo did say that he was declared out on the count of eight in the second round of that memorable fight last summer, he was wrong. No doubt he was not willfully wrong, as he could not have known personally whether the count was eight or eighty when he was knocked out. Perhaps he took the word of the men in his corner and they were in no better condition to know whether the counting timekeeper had not followed his watch to the tenth second.

Firpo was so done physically that he could not have been sure whether he was in Oskosh or Peru. His seconds were so mentally exercised that it would be impossible for them to follow the count, second by second, to the limit.

At the ringside were a score of trained newspapermen of long experience. They had been under fire before, trained to concentrate under any conditions to follow a count to ten and get away the "flash" on the winner. Regardless of the noise, the commotion and the bedlam that prevailed all during that Dempsey-Firpo fight, there was no writer at the ringside who did not know for certain that the mouth of the timekeeper framed every word from one to ten and that his arm-beat counted the tick of ten seconds on the watch.

At the same time, practically every one of those trained observers in the press pit knew that Firpo was counted out in the first round that he was on the floor when the tenth second was called over him and that he was saved only because the referee waited for the timekeeper to declare him out and the timekeeper thought it was the duty of the referee to do it.

Firpo was reported to have said that his chief second, Horacio Lavelle was restraining him in his corner when he attempted to get in the ring and enter a claim of a foul against Dempsey.

Firpo, of course, received that information second-hand, and in advancing it as an alibi, he showed how ignorant he was on the rules.

If Lavelle had been allowed to enter the ring during the course of a round, Firpo would have been automatically disqualified and would have lost himself on a foul. If Firpo does not know that, he should never have entered the ring in a heavyweight championship fight.

The writer was sitting in Firpo's corner during the fight. Of course, during a round it is impossible to observe what is going on in the corner, especially when the action is as violent and sustained as it was in that fight. But it was not observed that Firpo's seconds made any attempt to protest on a foul.

If Lavelle did try to get up into the ring it is certain that he was restrained. The New York boxing commission posts in the corners of fighters for important championships special officers commissioned to see that the rules are observed and that nothing happens outside the ropes to those corners.

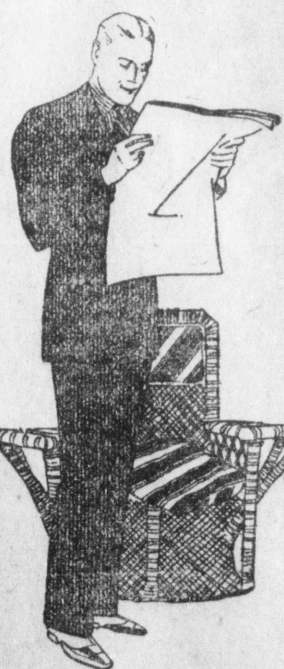

This precaution was first tried by the boxing commission in New Jersey during the Dempsey-Carpentier fight. Francois Descamps, the Frenchman's manager, had a habit of jumping into the ring when it was going badly against his fighter and thus getting an escape on a foul.

It was decided to have no fouls figure in the Dempsey-Carpentier fight and several special policemen in plain clothes were parked back of Carpentier's corner.

Descamps did make an attempt to jump up into the ring, but he was pulled back on his stool by two pairs of strong arms. He did not protest. He knew what had been done and the reasons for it.

It is supposed that the same precautions were taken by the New York commission and that if Lavelle did make an attempt to break the rules, he might have been pulled down from the steps leading into the ring.

300 POINTS SCORED BY CORNELL ELEVEN

NEW YORK, Dec. 3.—Cornell, undefeated for three seasons, was the only major collegiate football team in the country to score more than 300 points during the season which closed Saturday.

Cornell scored 320 points in eight games; West Virginia was second with 296 points and Notre Dame third with 275 points. Among the best defensive teams of the season were California, with seven points scored by opposition, Boston College with 14 and Syracuse with 19.

George Pfann, Cornell captain and All-American quarterback, led the east in scoring, with 95 points from 14 touchdowns and eight points after touchdowns. Tryon of Colgate, Hazel of Rutgers and Narducci of West Virginia were tied for second place with 84 points and Wilson of Penn state was next with 79 points.

Sundstrom, Cornell tackle, led in scoring points after touchdown with 24 goals, and Bill Mallory, captain of the Yale team, led in field goals with six.

When You Catch Cold Rub On Musterole

Musterole is easy to apply and it gets in its good work right away. Often it prevents a cold from turning into "flu" or pneumonia. Just apply Musterole with the fingers. It does all the good work of grand-mother's mustard plaster without the blister.

Musterole is a clean, white ointment, made of oil of mustard and other home simples. It is recommended by many doctors and nurses. Try Musterole for sore throat, cold on the chest, rheumatism, lumbago, pleurisy, stiff neck, bronchitis, asthma, neuralgia, congestion, pains and aches of the back and joints, sprains, sore muscles, bruises, chilblains, frosted feet—colds of all sorts.

To Mothers: Musterole is now made in milder form for babies and small children. Ask for Children's Musterole.

35c and 65c, jars and tubes; hospital size, $3.00.

Better than a mustard plaster.

OLD-TIMERS IN CONGRESS SEE BIG CHANGE

WASHINGTON, Dec. 3.—For evidence that "the old order changeth," witness the Senate. A generation has wrought a complete change in that august body.

Only three men who have served more than a score of years are due to appear in the new senate picture. The other ninety-three senators would be regarded as newcomers under the old rule when constituents let senators die in harness.

Henry Cabot Lodge, Republican leader of Massachusetts, is the oldest inhabitant of the Senate in point of service, with 30 years behind him. Senator Warren of Wyoming really got to the Senate first. He did a two-year hitch before his present term began in 1895. Senator Simmons of North Carolina, the Democratic nestor, did not come to the Senate until six years later.

With so many new faces, the Senate will present a vastly different picture. In the place of Knute Nelson, the old Viking with his snowy chin whiskers, will be another product of Scandinavia—Magnus Johnson, the real dirt farmer who actually milks his own cows.

Two Old-Timers Gone
Two oldtimers who came in together in 1899—Culberson of Texas and McCumber of North Dakota—went out together. The Texan, who had tottered with palsy for ten years, was defeated as a result of the big vote rolled up by an impeached governor of the Lone Star State, and Senator Mayfield, whose seat is under a cloud, won the race. McCumber, whose widely separated syllables style of oratory was long a Senate attraction, was defeated by Senator Frazier, who was recalled as Non-Partisan League governor of his state.

Death has taken Senator Dillingham of Vermont, whose youthful figure belied his 80 years. The nestor of the Senate, Senator Page, also of the Green Mountain State, a few months the senior of Dillingham, has quit. In his place comes former Representative Green, with his blond bangs. Porter Dale has also been elevated from the House in the place of Dillingham.

Hitchcock of Nebraska, an aristocrat in appearance, but a dyed-in-the-wool Democrat, has given way to Howell, the progressive Republican. The deliberate but determined Myers of Montana is succeeded by the fiery Wheeler. The lean, bald Poinsett, now ambassador to Peru, has been replaced by the pudgy, blond Dill of Washington, formerly in the House.

Pomeroy of the Webstorian dome is gone. In his place Dr. Fess of Ohio will regale the Senate with precise diction. Townsend of Michigan will be missing. Woodbridge Ferris will be there to remind the Senate that it has been a long time between Democrats in the Wolverine state.

Williams Is Gone
John Sharp Williams is down in Mississippi with his books and his birds, tending his cotton and mint patches. Hubert Stevens must uphold the honor of Mississippi. Dr. Copeland is there to give the Senate health hints instead of Calder the builder. The athletic France has been replaced by Bruce of Maryland.

Frelinghuysen, the dry, has given way to Edwards, who promised to make New Jersey "as wet as the Atlantic Ocean." Kellogg, in satin knickers, will soon be bowing at the Court of St. James, while Shipstead, the dentist, is representing Minnesota in the Senate.

Ralston of Indiana succeeds Postmaster General New in the Senate, but the Hoosier candidate for President must go to predecessor when he wants to get a postmaster appointed. And Sutherland has in his place Neely, the young West Virginia mountaineer.

LIONS GOING TO MEET
ANAHEIM, Dec. 3.—Several officers, including President Bob White and Secretary Bebe, are expected to attend a meeting of the officers of Lions' Den of California and Nevada to be held at Tulare, December 8.

STAR CAST FEATURED IN "THE SPOILERS"

The new screen version of Rex Beach's famous Alaskan novel, "The Spoilers," which Jesse B. Hampton produced for Goldwyn distribution boasts a cast of eighteen famous motion picture players. Included in it are men who have won fame on the stage as well as those who have achieved prominence on the screen alone.

Milton Sills was selected for the role of the hero, Roy Glennister, because of his popularity with screen fans, because of his powerful physique, and because of his success in roles which required physical prowess as well as acting ability of the first water. Barbara Bedford was selected for the role of Helen Chester, the heroine, not alone for her brunette good looks, but for the success which she has achieved in other screen productions during the past two years.

For the role of Cherry Malotte, which made Kathryn Williams famous in the Selig version, Hampton selected Anna Q. Nilsson, the blond beauty from Sweden, who has a large following in America. Robert Edson, noted stage star, was engaged to play Glennister's partner, Joe Dextray, and for the villainous Alex McNamara, Noah Beery, one of the screen's premier villains, was engaged.

The Broncho Kid is acted by Wallace MacDonald, while Mitchell Lewis is Marshall Vorhees, Ford Sterling, Slapjack Simms, Robert McKim, Struve, Same de Grasse, the Judge Stillman, and John Elliott, the Attorney Wheaton.

"MARY OF THE MOVIES" DUE AT PRINCESS SOON

It is a known fact that one of the hardest things in the world is to be natural. Have you ever watched a person who was having a picture taken—heard him being told to "look perfectly natural," now—seen the strained, unnatural expression that settled upon his face and laid hold of his entire body? He just simply can't help it! There's something about being expected to be natural, that scares a person half to death. He gets unnatural just trying to be natural—if you get what we mean!

All of which is by way of preface to the statement that "Mary of the Movies," the sensational motion picture revealing the innermost

Mr. and Mrs. Howie Denton and children are spending the Thanksgiving vacation at the home of Mr. Denton's parents at Westgate.

Alva Parks Warren of Oak Glen, was a guest at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Summers Tuesday and Wednesday.

Mr. and Mrs. Adolph Koch and family are at home once more after several months spent in Orange looking after their ranch interests.

Mrs. Byron and her sister, Mrs. Stanley, attended the dance at Yorba Linda.

Mr. and Mrs. B. Pyles of Vernon, were visitors at the Sterns Thompson lease Wednesday afternoon. Several of the residents who were old neighbors of the Pyles were delighted to see them once again.

Among the many attractions planned for the community social at Richfield school house December 11, is a talk to the boys of the community on the Boy Scout movement and aims of the organization.

The address will be given by Guy Denton, Scoutmaster of Yorba Linda, who has done much splendid work with the boys of that district. As the young folks of Richfield are showing so much interest in the movement it is expected that plans may be perfected for a corps at this place.

Vern Richardson of Pasadena was a visitor at the home of his sister, Mrs. Emory P. Francis.

The next Parent-Teacher meeting will take place in the kindergarten room at 2:30 p. m., December 5.

Mrs. Campbell of the Sterns Thompson boarding house is quite sick with fallen arches, the trouble having been slowly getting worse, she has decided to take special treatment at Anaheim.

Shields is taking charge during Mrs. Campbell's absence.

Week-end guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Vern Adams were Miss Edith Newcom and Mrs. G. Adams.

The home of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Gendar was the scene of the Esseques club party which met there Friday afternoon. A good attendance took part in the interesting features of the entertainment. Mai Jongg was played, after which "Michigan" claimed the rest of the afternoon. Prizes were given and delicious refreshments were served at the close of the afternoon. Guests present included Mesdames Vern Adams, Max App, J. Limbert, E. Karnes, H. Denton, L. McKee and Miss Auldfield Heaton.

A PUZZLE A DAY

A man, 45 years old, has a son who is 12 years old. In how many years will the father be three times as old as the son?

Yesterday's answer:

The drawing shows how the farm was divided into four equal parts. Each section contains a house (H) and a barn (B). All the sections are exactly the same size and shape.

ADAM AND EVA—

EVA, WHERE IS THE MORNING PAPER?

THE BABY GOT HOLD OF IT AND TORE IT UP, ADAM.

WE MUST TEACH HIM THAT TEARING UP THINGS IS WRONG.

WHEN HE GETS BIGGER HE'LL KNOW BETTER.

OF COURSE, ADAM, HE'S TOO YOUNG TO SPANK AND BESIDES HE'S JUST HAD HIS BOTTLE.

WHAT'S THE BOTTLE GOT TO DO WITH IT?

ONE SHOULD NEVER SPANK A CHILD ON A FULL STOMACH.

MAYBE, NOT, BUT CAN'T HE BE TURNED OVER?

BRIGHTEST OF POINSETTIAS

Poinsettias in Santa Ana are heralding the coming of Christmas. In gorgeous color, here and there, throughout the city clumps of this wonderful shrub are in themselves veritable holiday cards, such as no artist can paint.

There have been years, no doubt, in which poinsettias in Santa Ana gave forth a wealth of blossom equal to this year's marvelous display, but there could not have been a season that surpassed this year's in gorgeousness.

The wonderful poinsettias at the courthouse, parent stock for many scores of groups of poinsettias in private yards of this city, are a sight to behold. Planted more than twenty years ago, the clump on the west side of the main entrance of the courthouse has bloomed year after year, not only cause for admiration from all who see its blossoms but a testimonial to the balminess of our climate.

It was a happy custom instituted by the courthouse gardener a few years ago, the giving away of cuttings each spring as the time comes for cutting back the poinsettias. Year by year the number of poinsettias in Santa Ana has increased. True, it must increase with tremendous rapidity if it is to keep pace with our population, but why not set the planting of poinsettias as a program for betterment of civic beauty? Why not turn our poinsettias into civic distinctiveness?

WIRES IN THE ARCTIC

Radio communication with civilization is not all that modern science has given to aid Arctic explorers. A paragraph from one of the recent messages from the McMillan expedition mentions some of the other aids.

"Our little ship, built down on the Maine coast of seasoned oak, is a palace compared with the exploring ships of old. Frozen in the ice, carrying on its decks three snow houses, it presents, in the half light of midday, a curious sight with its wireless antennae stretched to the hill ahead, its electric wires leading across the ice to the magnet observatory where tiny lights are kept constantly burning, faithfully recording the fluctuation of those great forces that we know so little about—terrestrial magnetism and atmospheric electricity. Stretched in another direction there is another set of wires leading to our anemometer registering electrically the force of prevailing northeast winds.

"From the very bow of the ship, flat on the harbor ice, we have a man arrangement of wire, a counterpoise leading to a tidal crack."

Here are instruments making for more accurate measurements and discoveries than could be made in earlier days. With a few wires and a little more knowledge than former explorers had, the forces of nature are investigated and used almost as man wishes. In time men may harness the Aurora Borealis and make it help them in their explorations.

BUSINESS IS GOOD WILL

The phrase "business is business", with its disagreeable suggestion that no consideration of honor or service or friendship or humanity had any place in business affairs, is said to have passed.

"It was a short, hard sentence, with nothing said for good behavior," said a business man the other day, speaking to other business men. Business, it appears, is bound up with a number of other qualities and responsibilities, and executives cannot escape the new conditions.

A new phrasing of the facts might read, "Business is service and courtesy to the public, business is fairness to employees, business is good will between business men and those with whom they deal."

THE TIME OF DEATH

The time of one's death has always been considered beyond human knowledge. Dr. Charles Mayo, famous American surgeon, declares that in the case of most men, a competent physical examination will disclose within a year or two when they will die, and what will cause their deaths.

This is not prophecy, in the usual sense, but merely scientific reasoning from causes to effects, as observed in thousands of cases. It is like telling a motorist that, with a given car, speed and direction, he will reach a certain point at a certain time.

But there is nothing fatal about it, in Dr. Mayo's view. This scientific foretelling of death is based, as in the case of the motorist, upon the supposition that he will continue his present procedure. The motorist may change his manner of travel; the patient may change his mode of life.

Dr. Mayo says that the average man has it in his power, by a rational change of physical habits, to add 10 years to his indicated period of life.

FORD'S PRIVATE CAR

Henry Ford is having built for him what is said to be the most luxurious private car in America, or the world. It is equipped with sumptuous bedrooms, tiled bathrooms, a beautiful drawing room, an electrical kitchen, richly appointed office and accommodations for a small office force. Everything is the last word in modernity. There are electrically operated phonographs and a broadcasting and receiving radio set. In that car, railroad travel would be comfortable indeed.

One naturally wonders, however, why Mr. Ford, in designing such a car, should plan it for a railroad. Isn't he engaged in making railroads unnecessary for passenger traffic? Why not a palatial touring car, fitted up as a land yacht? The time is ripe for such a development, anyway, and nobody seems to be giving serious attention to it.

LESSON IN SALESMANSHIP

Two stores located in the same neighborhood were doing respectively a $7,000 and a $400 business a week, selling the same class of goods. If the community couldn't support the two stores how did it happen to choose the one for the bulk of its patronage? An authority on trade relations answers the question.

"The first store was immaculate. Artistic display invited you. The goods were arranged so that brands were easy to see." The second store was wanting in all these points.

It appears that even so essential an article as food does not sell itself without any effort on the part of the merchant. Advertising backed by service, quality, satisfaction, courtesy and knowledge of the business are points of successful salesmanship of as great importance as the presence of stock on the shelves.

Many a poor congressman, asked to choose between the army bonus and the tax cut, would prefer a little of both if you please.

Court Delivers Blow

Sacramento Bee

In a decision handed down yesterday, the third district court of appeals declared unconstitutional that provision of the Breed Act whereby county traffic officers were to be named by the superintendent of the state motor vehicle department and at the same time be paid out of county funds.

For the officers named under the provision, who now face the loss of their pay for two or three months, sympathy can well be felt. They are the innocent victims of, for them, an unfortunate situation.

But from the standpoint of the public, the decision is a wholesome one. It brings to an end, in all likelihood, an unwarranted and unnecessary attempt on the part of the state government to interfere and to dictate in a matter wholly of local concern.

For under this law, these officers, although serving entirely in the counties, were not amenable to any form of county direction or control. They were responsible alone to Will H. Marsh, superintendent of the motor vehicle department, here in Sacramento.

Neither the board of supervisors nor the sheriff of any county had any authority to say what highway should or should not be patrolled.

Further than that, their work was confined to state roads. This left miles upon miles of county highways absolutely unpoliced.

The purpose of the whole scheme has from the first been apparent. It was not designed primarily to secure adequate or efficient enforcement of the motor vehicle act, but to provide jobs for the state administration. Now that the system has been demolished the way has been cleared for the substitution of a less cumbersome and bureaucratic plan.

Congress's Power Important

Pasadena Star-News

The United States Congress, soon to assemble in regular session, is an impressive legislative body, when its functions and prerogatives are considered thoughtfully. Much ridicule is cast at Congress. Much criticism. Much disparagement. Much that is harsh and unkind, and much that is not, is open to criticism. But, after the critics have had their last word, the fact remains that Congress commands the respect of the country and of the world.

With its nearly 600 members, Congress is unwieldy. Growth of the country in population has resulted in increased representation in Congress for all the states. It were better, perhaps, if the membership of Congress were decreased 50 per cent. There is no likelihood, however, that this will come. Indeed, the tendency is, among that states, to clamor for increased, instead of decreased, representation.

Because of the large membership; because of the phenomenal growth and development of the country, and the evolution of changing interests, the problem of getting sagacious action from Congress without undue delay is very serious. There is a tendency now to divide Congress, not only along broad partisan lines, but along narrower "expedient" lines. This will tend to hamper yet more the expeditious and orderly course of legislation.

But Congress is the great legislative branch of the government, with powers almost limitless, under the Constitution. It even may override the veto of the President. And while some of its enactments and some of its courses of action are seriously criticized—perhaps justly—by the people, yet, on the whole, wisdom and patriotism dominate the proceedings under the dome of the Capitol.

That Body of Yours

By James W. Barton, M. D.

LIFE AND THE LIVER

My readers must often wonder why I talk so much about the liver. The truth of the matter is that the old saying "Life depends upon the liver" is so terribly true that you have never realized it.

As I've told you so often, the real life of your body depends upon the life stream, the blood.

Now there are so many quarts of blood circulating around in you the amount depending of course, upon the size of your body.

Every part of your body is bathed in it. At any given time there is a certain quantity in the heart itself, a certain quantity in the lungs, and in all the blood vessels carrying the blood about the body.

It is estimated that one quarter of the entire supply is in heart, lungs, and the vessels. And yet at that very time also, the liver, that one organ, has just as much blood in it as the heart, lungs, and vessels have all put together. You know what the liver has to do. It has to take all the starches—that is vegetables—bread—and sugars, and turn them into a special kind of sugar for use in the body. It not only manufactures this sugar, but it stores it up, so that if at anytime you happen to eat less vegetables than your system requires, this stored up sugar is passed out into the blood and carried to all the needy parts. And also the liver manufactures the bile which is a most wonderful juice. You will remember that it breaks up the fats so that the system can absorb it. It also takes care of most of the harmful material that gets into our stomachs. It actually renders it harmless.

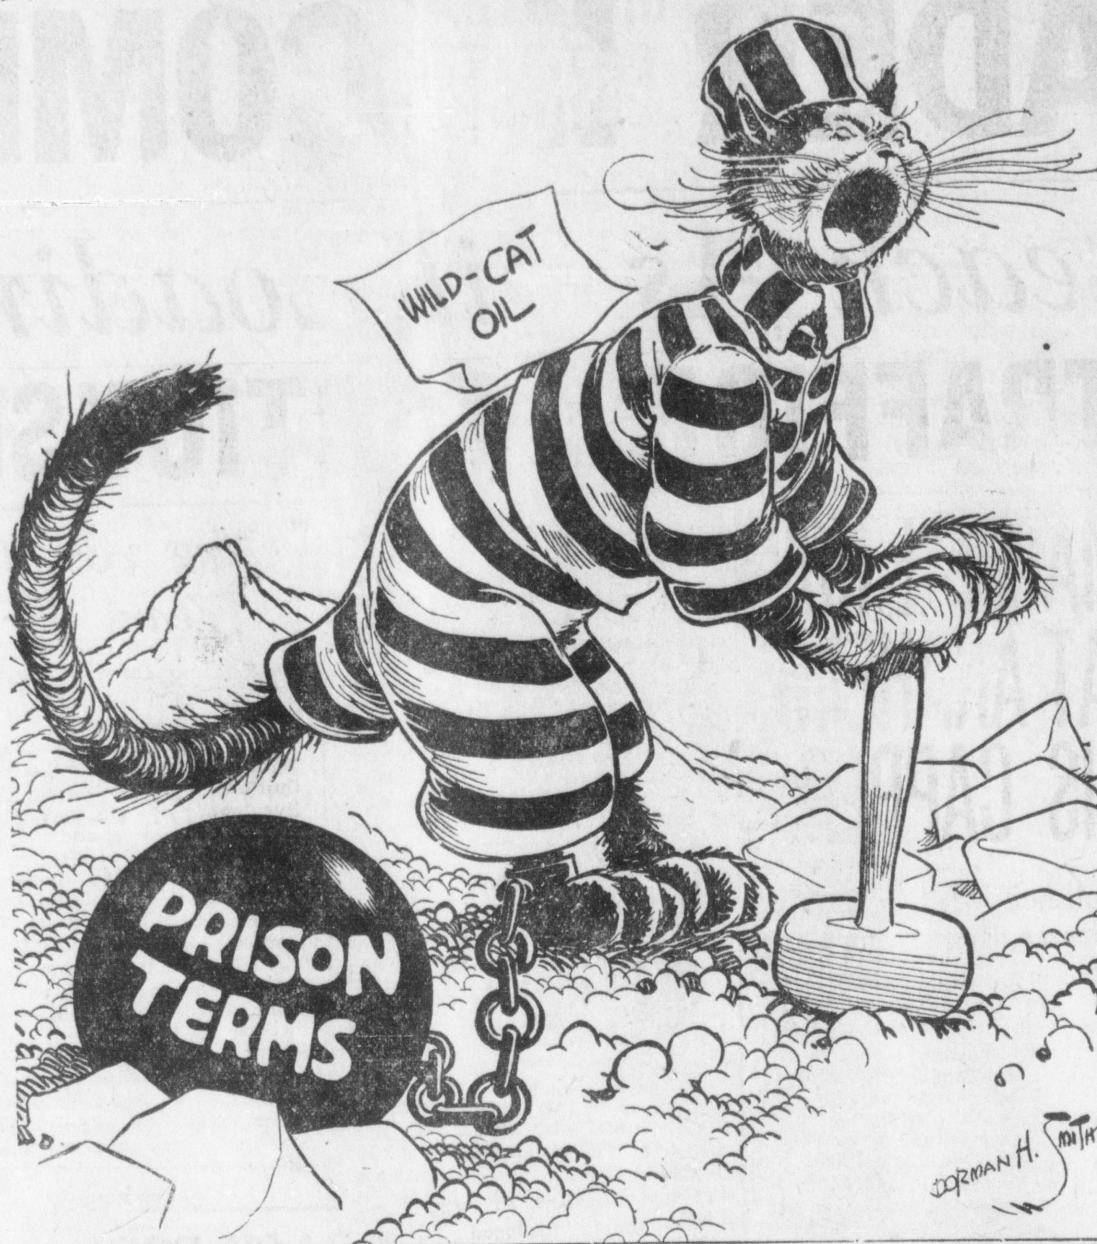

And finally the bile as it passes into the intestine actually makes the intestine move its contents along better.

Some manufacturers sell bile salts as purgatives. So you see why I talk about the liver so much. How important it is that it gets shaken up a bit. That's why the livers actually strike it through the diaphragm every time you breathe. That's why also that you are advised so often to bend that body of yours from side to side so as to squeeze the liver and thus help the circulation in it.

So now you see that if one quarter of all your blood is in the liver, and is working properly, you get such good results in health. You can likewise see that if that same large quantity is working very, very slowly in it, you also get results. But how different.

It's worth thinking about, isn't it? (Metropolitan Newspaper Service)

And This Makes the Wild-Cat Wild

Harding's Greatest Monument

Vancouver (B. C.) Sun

DEVOTED FRIENDS of Warren Gamaliel Harding will raise $3,000,000 by subscription to perpetuate the memory of the only American President who ever spoke on Canadian soil. Half of that sum will be spent on a mausoleum and shrine at Marion, Ohio. The other $1,500,000 will be invested to keep these buildings up forever.

It is a good, wholesome project, and Canadians who can afford it should subscribe liberally in the name of Canadian-American friendship, of which Harding was a champion.

But this $1,500,000 mausoleum will only be a poor imitation of the shrine Warren Harding erected for himself in Vancouver last July.

No monument can be erected now that will equal in stability, force and appeal the picture that thousands of Canadians carry in their memories of this great, generous man, destined so soon for the grave, stretching out both his arms in love and friendship to the Canadian people in the leafy paradise of Stanley Park.

The new sense of international amity engendered that day in Vancouver and spread by word of mouth and the press to every corner of the North American continent is Warren Gamaliel Harding's most beautiful, most useful and most lasting monument.

And if the loving friends who would perpetuate his memory seek an inscription for the beautiful shrine they will erect to him they will find no truer than this:

"Here is a man who one summer's day drew two nations closer together in friendship, trust and esteem than any two nations have ever been drawn before."

Worth While Verse

IN THE FIRELIGHT

The fire upon the hearth is low,
And there is stillness everywhere,
While like winged spirits, here and there,
The firelight shadows flitting go.
And as the shadows round me creep,
A childish treble breaks the gloom,
And softly from a further room
Comes, "Now I lay me down to sleep."

And somehow, with that little prayer
And that sweet treble in my ears,
My thoughts go back to distant years
And linger with a loving one there;
And as I hear my child's amen,
My mother's faith comes back to me—
Crouched at her side I seem to be,
And mother holds my hands again.

Oh, for an hour in that dear place!
Oh, for the peace of that dear time!
Oh, for that childish trust sublime!
Oh, for a glimpse of mother's face!
Yet, as the shadows round me creep,
I do not seem to be alone—
Sweet magic of that treble tone,
And "Now I lay me down to sleep."
—Eugene Field.

"Because," said the learned savant pityingly, "self-preservation is the first law of nature. I had to save my own life first!"

The recent discussion of the severe burden placed upon Presidents has recalled the old story of Lincoln who when he looked tired and worn from his duties remarked to a friend: "Yes, I feel very much like the Irishman who after ridden on a rail, remarked, 'If it was not for the honor of the thing, I'd rather walk.'"

Competition

By W. E. Allen, of La Jolla, California Biological Feature Service.

This morning a lone pelican began fishing operations a short distance from the pier at the La Jolla Biological Station. He had evidently found a satisfactory school of small fish which remained in that particular locality for several minutes. The fish were so little disturbed that he was able to make a dive and catch, swallow the victims in dignified leisure and then with three or four strokes of his wings throw himself into good position for another catch. About three-fourths of his attempts seemed to be successful.

Then a gull—pretty, but lazy and thievish—noticed the pelican's success, so she came and sat down by his head and tried with more or less success to steal the fish out of his beak and pouch. After every dive she was right there, pecking away at his catch. He tried now and then to escape her. No such luck. She could fly faster and she was determined to stick to her easy prospect.

After a few dives a cormorant became convinced that the field deserved investigation, so she came hurrying over and plumped right into the midst of the school. Chasing the fish under water she soon had them so frightened that the pelican no longer found profit in working. So, after a little sober reflection, he got up and left the locality.

Meanwhile a fishing boat had noticed that these were the only active birds in sight, so she came scurrying along and dropped her net not far from where the principal disturbance. So far as I could judge at the distance the boat made a fairly good haul. It was soon surrounded by a large number of gulls which found it easier to steal from the net or to pick up injured fish than it is to rob pelicans or to fish for themselves.

This was a very simple situation as compared with what is frequently seen along our coast when dozens of pelicans, scores of gulls, terns, cormorants and loons and many fishing boats are in a mad scramble to catch as many as possible of little fish driven to the surface by sharks, barracuda, mackerel and white sea bass.

Test of Man

The place to take the measure of a man is not the forum or the field, not the market place or the amen-corner, but at his own fireside. There he lays aside his mask and you may judge whether he's imp or angel, king or cur, hero or humbug. I care not what the world says of him, whether it crown him with bays or pelt him with bad eggs; I care never a copper what his reputation or religion may be; if his babes dread his homecoming and his better half swallows her heart every time she has to ask him for a $5 bill, he's a fraud of the first water, even though he prays night and morn till he's black in the face, and howls hallelujah till he shakes the eternal hills. But if his children rush to the front gate to greet him, and love's own sunshine illumines the face of his wife when she hears his footfall, you may take it for granted that he's true gold, for his home's a heaven, and the humbug never gets that near the great white throne of God.—Brann.

America's Hope

The best hope of America here is through instruction of the young. No child should be allowed to grow up or go through school unmindful of the daily demands upon citizenship in America makes upon the individual. There must be developed a sense of responsibility to the nation that is as strong as a sense of responsibility to one's self. It is neglect of this duty in training of the young that opens the way for the parade of the demagogue, the unbalanced radical and the luke-warm patriot. These elements have a dangerous hold on America today. A sturdy patriotism, unimpaired of its obligations, should rout them.—Kansas City Star.

Big Advertiser

In the last four years the war department of the United States has disposed of material originally valued at more than $2,000,000, 100,000 separate items of surplus war material, Frederick A. Collins, assistant chief of the sales promotion section and advertising manager of the war department, says.

He says in that time the war department has waged a mammoth advertising campaign, placing advertisements in practically every newspaper and trade publication in the United States. Approximately $1,500,000 has been expended by the department for advertising purposes, Mr. Collins says.

NO. 10—A RUB-A-DUB RIDDLE

This was the Riddle Lady's next riddle. Nancy and Nick listened carefully to every word she said: "Rub-a-dub-dub, rub-a-dub-dub! I'm flat as a penny and round as a tub, I haven't a hand and I never had feet, "Ring-a-ding-ding, ring-a-ding-ding! Everyone likes me from peddler to king. I boom a loud greeting whenever I pass, In thunderous tones that no one can surpass, "My jacket is wood and laced up to my chin, And I've heard that my hand's but a piece of sheep's skin, Perhaps that's the reason I have to be beat— To see just how loudly I know how to bleat.

"I'm as empty inside as a hollow balloon, And my features resemble a round harvest moon, But I've led men to battle 'midst roaring and din, And lifting my voice, I've cheered them to win, "Santa packs me on Christmas with all of his toys, And takes me down chimney for one of the boys, He hangs me low down on the big Christmas tree With two sticks right near me where Johnny can see, "Rat-a-tat-tat, a rat-a-tat-tat! I hang 'round your neck like a bulky cravat. I'm not big like Jack's giant nor small as Tom Thumb, I'm a rackets-packety, rub-a-dub-dub!" "Is it a horn?" yawned little Boy Blue, who had stopped over in Riddle Town on his way home from the hayfield. "No," said the Riddle Lady. "What makes you think that?" "Well, it's round and hollow and makes a noise and leads soldiers to war!" "That's so," acknowledged the Riddle Lady. "I should have made it clearer." "But a horn doesn't have to be beaten!" declared Dick. "And this does." "That's right," said the Riddle Lady. "Then the riddle is all right after all." "I know what it is," said Dick suddenly. "It's a drum!" "Right," exclaimed the Riddle Lady brightly. "And that's the prize! A drum with red and blue lacing and yellow varnished sides." And she hung it 'round his neck. "Hurrah for Nick!" shouted all the good-natured Riddle-Landers, not a bit jealous of his luck. And yet I wonder what on earth the Old-Shoe Woman or Taffy Welshman or the Baker's Man would have done with it had they won it. But still! The Old-Shoe Woman would probably have given it to one of her children. (To be Continued) (Copyright, 1923, NEA Service, Inc.)
